MANY WETS IN VOTE FOR DRY LAW FUND BILL

Different Interpretations Are Placed on Victory for Volstead Act

PREDICT FIGHT LATER

Wets Hope to Point to Huge
Funds to Enforce Law
During Reaction

Washington—Differing interpretations are being placed on the overwhelming vote by which the house of representatives passed the bill appropriating about thirteen million dollars to aid the coast guard in enforcing prohibition.

One is that the small number of wets who were mustered in opposition did not represent the true measure of sentiment in opposition to prohibition and the other is that the wets are planning to lift appropriations sky-high if possible so as to make prohibition as expensive a reform as it is possible to make.

The "drys" won their point with relative ease this time for in the closing days of the last session there was a tendency to shelve measures that looked to the strengthening of the prohibition enforcement agencies of the government.

CHOICE OF WETS

The choice was presented to "wets" of taking responsibility for blocking enforcement by withholding funds or assisting in the argument that no matter how much money is spent the prohibition laws cannot be fully enforced.

Approximately $30,000,000 is being appropriated to enforce the Volstead act. President Coolidge in his message took the position that "all the funds necessary" should be spent to secure enforcement. The "wets" are beginning to ask what is meant by all the funds necessary. Does it mean the use of the army and navy as advocated by some of the drys or does it mean greater expansion of the existing prohibition laws?

MAX AID REACTION

Then there is the viewpoint of some of the "wets" that the more money spent by the federal government the more opportunity there is for practical manipulation and irregularity all of which is calculated some day to add in the supposed reaction against prohibition on the part of the people. This may or may not explain why only 12 votes were cast to reject the provisions carrying the extensive appropriations. For the "wet" strength in the house is much stronger than a dozen.

The prohibition issue continues to split the parties and there is evidence that more than one outbreak on the subject can be expected before the session is over. But on the matter of enforcing an existing law, the preponderance sentiment is that the "wets" would merely waste money by dryly in various parts of the country if they made an issue of the amount of money spent at this time.

MRS. CHAPLIN MAY APPEAL TO CHURCH

Wife of Comedian May Ask
Rota Tribunal to Annul
Marriage to Divorced Man

Los Angeles—(AP)—Lita Grey Chaplin may appeal to the Roman Catholic church tribunal at Rome for annulment of her marriage to Charlie Chaplin, wealthy film comedian.

The possibility that she may follow the lead of Consuelo Vanderbilt, the former duchess of Marlborough and Guglielmo Marconi, the inventor, was expressed by Mrs. Chaplin Sunday night.

She has known my rights in such matters as an appeal to the Rota tribunal at Rome," the comedian's estranged wife said. "I have been informed that because Mr. Chaplin was a divorced man when I married him I am in a position to further these rights."

Mrs. Chaplin intends to return to the Roman Catholic church, the religion of her childhood, which she forsook when she married the actor two years ago. She also wants to have her two sons baptized by the church.

SUPREME COURT FAILS TO ADJOURN MONDAY

Washington—(AP)—Instead of following its usual practice of adjourning after delivering opinion on the eve of its over-holiday recess, the supreme court decided to hold special afternoon session to hear arguments in seven cases which had been set for argument last week, but which were not reached. Counsel in the cases came to Washington last week and the court felt it would cause inconvenience, as well as increase the expense of litigates, should it refuse to hear the arguments.

DEMOCRATS TRY TO FORCE TAX BILL

Good Fellows' Club Is Waiting Your Response

Can you afford to overlook today an item of the Christmas season whose disregard may in later months leave an impression on your conscience which may never be eradicated?

As you go about preparing for the festival which you and yours will celebrate on Dec. 25, can you afford, in justice to yourself, to overlook the fact that in Appleton, there are many families whose circumstances preclude the possibility of Santa Claus—even preclude necessary food and comfort on that day of days?

Statistics, cold and cruel, but accurate beyond a doubt, reveal that in the city there are 225 families to whom Christmas may mean nothing but 24 hours of physical hunger and suffering for the elders and heart-hunger and pangs of longing to the children—unless you do your part.

Will it suffice you, to say, "there are plenty who will donate—I'll just forget it, I'll never be missed among 3,000 names?"

The spirit of "let George do it" will never supplant the spirit of Christmas. A minute with a check book, paper bill or money order—and you may have supplied the want which will change Christmas day from a day of gloom to one of untold happiness in one afflicted home.

The Good Fellows Club will take up your message from that point.

A coupon simplifying the physical details of your share in the club's work will be found on another page. Can you afford to see the final roll of honor published, either on paper or in your thoughts, with your name conspicuous—by its absence?

ALLIES MOVE TO WITHDRAW FROM GERMANY

Commissions Will Ascertain Whether Versailles Conditions Are Met

Geneva—(AP)—Interallied control of German armaments is to cease Jan. 31, next and in its place the league of nations, by means of commissions, will ascertain whether Germany is carrying out the conditions for disarmament laid down in the Versailles treaty.

This decision was reached by the foreign ministers in session outside the meetings of the council of the league of nations. Of more than 100 questions regarding German armaments which divided the 22 allied military control commission and the council of ambassadors and Germany in 1925 regarding the execution of the military, naval and air clauses of the treaty of Versailles, only two remain outstanding, and it is the hope of the foreign ministers that an amicable settlement of these also will be possible.

The question of the strength of the fortresses at Koenigsberg, Kuesten and Glogau on the German frontier and Germany's exportation of war material, some of it allegedly going through Russia to the Chinese revolutionaries, are the two points which will be submitted through regular diplomatic channels for settlement primarily through the ambassadors' council. If the ambassadors are unable to solve the problems the council of the league of nations will take them in hand.

POPE PIUS SAYS DRESS OF WOMEN IS OUTRAGE

Rome—(AP)—Modern fashions for women were characterized as "an outrage in every sense against human and Christian dignity," by Pope Pius Monday in addressing 1,000 representatives of the Federation of Catholic Men. Emphasizing his displeasure over the present modes, the pontiff urged fathers to check their daughters and wives' irreverence and corruption as expressed in immodest clothing.

MAN SHOTS SELF IN ROTUNDA OF CAPITOL

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—An unidentified man shot and probably fatally wounded himself while in the rotunda of the capitol early Monday.

The name A. W. Caldwell was written in pencil on the lining of the man's hat. He was well along in years and wore a G. A. R. button in the lapel of his coat.

Jersey Blue Law Cause Of Arrest Of 92 Persons

Irvington, N. J.—(AP)—The iron hand of New Jersey's 72-year-old blue law, passed as a safeguard to Sunday morals, Monday had within its grip 92 citizens arrested in a crusade, sponsored by movie theatre owners, whose theatres had been closed previously by ministerial protest.

Their fate rested with a police judge before whom they each had posted $2 bail to appear in answer of summons "worldly" occupation on a day when the vice and immorality law permits only traveling to and from church and the sale of milk and newspapers.

The penalty for violation of the law is a $2 fine or for habitual offenders, 10 days in jail. Even operation of railroad trains is prohibited by the law, although an amendment allows operation of one passenger train a day.

The offenders arrested Sunday reported almost every occupation but those specifically exempted by the law. The group contained newspaper reporters, who had some trouble convincing the police they were working, filling station proprietors, street car conductors, motemen, druggists, barbers, boot blacks, and others.

Police cooperated fully with theatre men, one detective being assigned to each with his pockets filled with complaints.

Many arrested merchants placed signs on the doors explaining they had been arrested but would return shortly. One restaurant owner telephoned police early in the morning, requesting he be arrested early as he was too busy around noon. He was accommodated.

The operator of a gas filling station, opposite headquarters, was arrested so many times that finally after each race he turned his way across the street to post his bail. Managers of five movie theatres in the town of 50,000 were the prime movers in the campaign. Ministers, whose protest caused the closing of theatres and the resultant crusade Sunday, declined to comment.

PETITION IS OFFERED ON HOUSE FLOOR

Require 218 Signatures to Bring Bill Before Lower House for Action

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Democratic leaders are planning to circulate a petition among house members in an effort to bring the $335,000 Democratic tax reduction bill to the house floor. They decided on this resort Monday as the only method of bringing their bill out of the ways and means committee, where Republican majority voted Saturday to postpone it.

The decision was reached at a consultation between Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the minority leader, and Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee.

Under the rules the bill would come before the house for consideration, regardless of the committee, if the petition in its favor received the signatures of a majority of the total house membership, or 218 members. This is about 30 more signatures than the Democrats can muster from their own party.

INCREASE JUDGE'S SALARIES

President Coolidge Monday signed the bill raising the salaries of federal judges, approved last week by congress. The measure makes substantial increases in the pay of the entire federal judiciary, including the supreme court. Its enactment was advocated by leaders of the bar and by numerous organizations on the ground that living expenses had risen to a point where they were out of all proportion to the salaries. It was also argued that higher pay would attract to the bench men of the highest caliber.

As matters of importance to congress, the senate faced the proposal for extension of the maternity act for one year, the Muscle Shoals question, the possibility of a vote on sending the poison gas treaty back to the foreign relations committee and receipt as a court of impeachment, of the resolution adopted by the house for dismemberment of proceedings against Federal Judge George W. English of Illinois, resigned.

Acting in its capacity as an impeachment court, the senate adopted a resolution previously approved by the house providing that the jurist should not be brought to trial.

CARFERRY RUNS ON ROCKS EARLY TODAY

Pere Marquette No. 18, Runs Aground in Heavy Fog Near Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(AP)—The car ferry Pere Marquette No. 18, went on the rocks near here early Monday morning. Water filled the hold but no one was reported injured. Car ferry No. 20, was sent from Milwaukee to remove the cars from the boat, which was on its way to Manitowish from Ludington, Mich., by way of Milwaukee.

With a crash that shook her from stem to stern post, ferry No. 18, hit the rocks off Fox point in a heavy fog at 1:30 Monday morning.

Wireless advices from the ship were that her engine room was flooded with water. Carries No. 20 and 22, the tug Conrad Starke and a coast guard cutter were standing by, but the crew of 45 men were still aboard at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

It was expected to be an all-day job to release her, if it could be done in that time, as a promised northwest gale and near zero temperature were likely to complicate the work of rescue.

The damaged car ferry is loaded with 22 freight cars of merchandise for Milwaukee manufacturing firms. The boat has a gross tonnage of 2,777 tons. The only means of getting the ship off the rocks is to lighten it to the point where it will float free of the rocks that hold her.

BADGER PAINTER HIT BY TRAIN; BADLY HURT

Stoughton—(AP)—Tollef Homme, a painter employed at the state capitol in Madison since the gubernatorial administration of the late Robert M. La Follette, was seriously injured here at 8:30 Monday morning when he accidentally stepped into the path of an incoming Madison-bound passenger train. Mr. Homme maintains a home here and was going back to Madison for the week's work when the accident occurred. He suffered a broken shoulder and injuries to his head.

GIRL BANDIT CALLS BANKERS 'SAPS' FOR ALLOWING ROBBERY

Austin, Texas—(AP)—Characterizing officials of the Farmers' National bank at Euda, as "saps" for allowing her to rob them of nearly $1,000 Saturday, Miss Rebecca Bradley, 22-year-old stenographer Monday waited at her mother's home here while the authorities sought to determine whether $5,000 bond was sufficient for her release on charge of robbery with firearms.

Although she declined to supply details of her escapade after being released Saturday night, she told officers how she drove her automobile to the small country town near here Saturday and after persuading the bank officials that she was a newspaper woman, assigned to write an article on the community, forced the cashier and another employee into the vault and escaped with approximately $1,000 in cash. She told officers she merely sought a thrill.

Miss Bradley, a graduate of Texas university and now working for a higher degree, is employed in the office of Dan Moody, attorney general and governor-elect.

ILLINOIS CITY MAYOR KILLED BY GANGSTERS

Joe Adams, West City Mayor, Assassinated; Blame
Burger Faction

Benton, Ill.—(AP)—A theory was advanced Monday that hired gunmen killed Joe Adams, 300 pound mayor of West City, near here, who was shot down by two unidentified men as he stood in the doorway of his home late Sunday. It was the culmination of two previous attacks on the mayor. West City is in Franklin-co, 20 miles from Herrin.

Adams, a former roadhouse proprietor, whose term would have expired next May, had figured in southern Illinois gang strife through his admitted friendship with the Shelton gang, and had reported to be about as cold as ice as Adams, but Thursday the temperature will begin to rise, Mr. Stewart said.

CHILD LABOR GAINING, LABOR REPORT REVEALS

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—An increase in the number of children industrially in the number of children under the age of 16 was noted Monday in the annual report of Grace Abbott, chief of the children's bureau of the labor department.

Statistics were gathered in 29 large industrial centers and showed that in 24 of these places more children were industrially employed in 1925 than in 1924. Miss Abbott attributed the gains largely to the fact that general business was more active during 1925 than during the preceding year.

COLDEST WAVE OF SEASON IS DUE MONDAY

Temperatures Tumble Spectacularly Throughout Central West Area

Chicago—(AP)—Temperatures tumbled spectacularly Monday across the central west in the van of a cold wave sweeping into the heart of the country from Alaska. As the storm crossed the Rockies and the northwest plains, it left heavy snow and the coldest temperatures of the season behind it and was responsible for deaths and accidents in a dozen states. Six fatalities were attributed to the storm in the Pacific northwest.

In Minneapolis C. B. Haskins, 72, was found dead in a snow bank in the rear of his home. He had been overcome by the cold.

ENGINE DERAILED

An engine was derailed in the storm near Northport, Minn., and passengers bound for the Twin Cities walked a mile through drifted snow to reach a rescue train. Three youths crashed their car into a train at Hager, Wis., in blinding snow, but were unhurt.

Temperatures of 31 below zero at Wilder, Mont., 30 below at Crookston, Minn., were recorded, and as the storm advanced Nebraska and Iowa felt the first sub-zero weather of the season.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Schools were closed because of the severity of the storm at Duluth and at Watertown, S. D., Manly, Minn., reported 10 foot snow drifts.

By Tuesday night the weather bureau said, the cold weather will be severe in the entire central west with zero temperatures by Tuesday morning over the entire central forecast and southern portions, where 5 degrees above zero will mark the minimum. There will be snow in most of the Great Lakes region.

Air mail movements west of Chicago were interfered with by the blizzard and trains were delayed throughout the northwest.

LOWEST TEMPERATURE

Milwaukee—(AP)—A cold wave that will bring the lowest temperature so far this winter is predicted for Monday night by W. P. Stewart, head of the Milwaukee weather bureau. The minimum temperature early Tuesday will be slightly above zero, Mr. Stewart said. Wednesday will be about as cold as Tuesday, but Thursday the temperature will begin to rise, Mr. Stewart said.

PRESIDES

JUDGE EDWIN W. DIEHL

MRS. MELLETT ON STAND IN CANTON CASE

Tells Story of Publisher's Murder in Trial of Alleged Murderer

Courthouse, Canton, O.—(AP)—With her four-year-old daughter at her knee Mrs. Florence Mellett, widow of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, Monday afternoon told from a witness stand in common pleas court the story of her husband's murder.

Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, conducting the questioning asked:

"Did Mr. Mellett receive a telephone call Saturday?" The reference was to the Sunday night preceding the murder.

"Yes."

Mrs. Mellett testified that guests were present and that Mr. Mellett talked over the telephone. "Then," she testified, "he came out of the house to the porch and called his brother Lloyd and went down to the corner of the house and it was very late that Mr. Mellett came back in the house alone."

"What did Mr. Mellett do this Sunday evening?" Did he make a search?

"Yes."

The state finished with the witness and Homer Durand, defense attorney began the cross examination.

In a low, scarcely audible tone, the widow told her story, caressing from time to time the short brown locks of her daughter's hair. Little Jane rested her chin on the rails of the witness box.

The most dramatic point in the testimony came when Mrs. Mellett said in the midst of a plaintive, tearless wail:

"I don't know why I let him go to the garage alone."

She referred to Mellett's trip to the garage where he was slain in a fusillade of shots fired from ambush. Mrs. Mellett was on the stand half an hour, during which she told of telephone warnings to Mellett a few days before the murder, described the sound of shots at the rear of the house and the discovery of her husband's body.

Behind the railing of the courtroom were 50 curious spectators who a few minutes before had won a battle with some 250 other curious persons for the few seats allotted to the public in the courtroom.

KNUTSON IS 'AFRAID', HIS FATHER SAYS

Farmhand Makes Statement
in Delirium; Authorities Investigate

WITHHELD FACTS, BELIEF
Don't Think Farmhand Has Any Direct Connection With Murder

Prairie du Chien—(AP)—In a delirium that followed his collapse Saturday, Edwin Knutson, former employe of Albert Olson, has made statements which are being scanned by District Attorney J. S. Earl for their significance in connection with the murder of Clara Dorothy Olson.

Knutson has been ill since Friday night when he collapsed after voluntarily submitting to an examination by authorities to whom had come rumors that the farmhand, friend of Erdman Olson, 18-year-old son of Albert Olson, who is sought on a murder warrant, had withheld important information.

Gilbert Knutson came here from Stanley, Wis., with his wife to the bedside of his son, Monday, and told of the conversation that followed the meeting.

TELLS OF CONVERSATION

"They had told me about his collapse and that I shouldn't talk about the Olson case as when I went in I just said: 'Hello Edwin, how are you feeling now?'"

"A little better," he said.

"I sat beside him for a bit and did not say much. We just gazed at him. Then I said: 'Stick by the truth, my boy, it's always the best way.'"

"He looked up at me and said: 'You wouldn't think that if you knew what I know?'"

"I remembered what they told me and changed the subject but when he gets stronger and better able to talk, I'm sure he'll tell me all that is on his mind."

"All I know about the case is what I've read in the paper," Mr. Knutson continued. "Now I don't know what to think, for from that statement of his, it seems certain that he's afraid of something."

UNCLE TELLS OF ACTIONS

From Evar Nedelke, uncle of young Knutson, it was learned that Knutson had eaten very little for days.

Nedelke declared that he accompanied his nephew to the district attorney's office and that the youth fainted when they returned home. He then put him to bed.

"He began muttering and raving, rolling his head from side to side and raising his arms above his head and then dropping them as though exhausted," Nedelke narrated.

"Murder, murder, murder—That's all I've heard for days," he cried.

NOT INVOLVED, BELIEF

District Attorney Earl said following questioning of Knutson Friday that they did not believe the young farmhand, who until three days ago was employed on the Albert Olson farm, had any connection with the case. It is believed that the murder and rumors that involved him has preyed on his mind.

There has been some evidence uncovered, authorities have previously declared, of an accessory being involved, but they have obtained no definite clue.

DEPERE WOMAN IS KILLED SUNDAY BY PASSENGER TRAIN

Mrs. Mary Timmerman Struck by Locomotive While on Right of Way

Mrs. Mary Timmerman, 73, Oak-st., De Pere, was instantly killed when struck by a Chicago and Northwestern south bound passenger train on the right of way in De Pere at 7:30 Sunday morning. Mrs. Timmerman had been on her way to attend mass at St. Boniface church and had taken a short cut from Oak-st. along the right of way to the next block.

Mrs. Timmerman evidently did not hear the train until it was about 50 feet from her when the engineer blew his whistle in warning. She attempted to jump from the path of the approaching train but fell and eye witnesses declare that she was attempting to crawl from the tracks when the train struck her. The engineer of the train had applied all his brakes when he saw the woman on the tracks but it was traveling at too fast a speed to make the stop. The body was carried about 125 feet on the front of the locomotive.

Coroner G. Biernert of Brown-co stated there would be no inquest as it had been definitely established that Mrs. Timmerman had been on the right of way.

Survivors are her widower, Stephen Timmerman; and three daughters, Mrs. Anna Barten and Mrs. Kate Boorman of De Pere and Mrs. Frances Tidross of Brown Valley, Minn. Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning from St. Boniface church, De Pere. Interment will be made in St. Boniface cemetery.

TROOP COMMITTEE IS REORGANIZED

Members of Boys Scout Troop Are Assigned Specific Duties

Reorganization of the troop committee of Troop 5 of All Saints Episcopal church to give each member a specific troop duty was completed Friday evening by P. O. Keicher, valley scout executive. The troop will meet hereafter at Roosevelt high school gymnasium, starting with the next meeting.

John C. Hansen was appointed new scoutmaster with Roy Darling as his assistant. Formal application was made for the troop charter for 1927. The 1926 charter expired this month.

The Rev. H. S. Gately was appointed chairman of the committee. Each member was given a definite part of the troop's work for which he is responsible. Seymour Gmeiner will have charge of troop finances, equipment and records; Louis Bonini will handle advancement and special instruction; Cecil Burgess will be in charge of outdoor programs and hikes; and F. A. W. Hammond will have charge of service, publicity and troop "good turns".

It was decided that some member of the troop committee must be present at all troop meetings at least part of the time to keep the group in touch with the work. Members of the committee will rotate the duty.

CHEVROLET DEALERS CLOSE CONTEST HERE

Chevrolet dealers in this district celebrated the close of a Turkey and Bean contest at Conway hotel Thursday evening. The contests were held in each Chevrolet district in the United States during November. The purpose was to match dealers who were to compete for showing the highest percentage of sales in their districts. Winners were to eat a turkey dinner across from the losers, who were served beans. Six dealers and 24 members of their sales forces were present.

The meeting was in charge of H. A. Nelson, factory representative in this zone. C. P. Eikson, sales manager of the district, presented a silver loving cup to the New London force for selling the highest percentage of its quota in November. Other winners were not made public. Brillion, Manitowish, Two Rivers, Neenah, Appleton and New London are included in the district.

Miss Ora Zuehlke, of the J. F. Bannister Dancing academy, gave a solo dance, and Edward F. Muman's orchestra played.

State's First Protestant Church Built At Green Bay

Green Bay—(P)—The First Methodist Episcopal church of Green Bay was the first protestant church in the state of Wisconsin and there have been more than 100 years of Methodism in this state, according to a brief history being prepared by the Rev. C. Wesley Boag, pastor of the Green Bay Methodist Episcopal church.

The history, which is being prepared in pamphlet form by the Green Bay historical society, to be issued as their monthly bulletin, states that the first man to organize a religious congregation of the protestant faith was Colonel Samuel Ryan, who was sent here by the United States in 1835 to take charge of Fort Howard, located at what is now known as West Green Bay.

The first church was composed of a class of four members led by Col. Ryan and according to the records found by the Rev. Boag the membership of this church has never been very large. One elder states in the minutes of the meetings held in the year of 1836 that the reason that such a low membership was experienced by the Green Bay church was that the Green Bay at that time was a "stopping off place where pioneers tarried only a time of days or a few weeks and then were moving again into the new and unsettled timber lands."

The church has had a total of 23 elders and superintendents since the first meeting was held and the Rev. Boag makes the 52nd pastor who has succeeded before the Green Bay Methodist Episcopal congregation. The church at present is holding meetings in a hall having been unable to build another church after their fourth church burned to the ground last January. The first church was built in the year of 1836 and completed in the early spring of 1837.

Throughout the 100 years the church has been in the New York, Oneida, Illinois and Wisconsin conferences and in the Milwaukee, Platteville, Green Bay, Fond du Lac and Appleton districts. The history of the "One Hundred Years of Methodism in Green Bay" will be delivered in sermons by Rev. Boag.

The original garret in which Charles Dickens visualized his famous character, Little Dorrit, has been located in what is now a printer's establishment in London.

CHURCH SOCIETY ELECTS BAUER AS PRESIDENT AGAIN

All Officers of Organization Are Named at Annual Meeting Sunday

Max Bauer was reelected president of the Holy Name society of St. Joseph church at the annual meeting at St. Joseph hall Sunday morning. More than 500 members of the organization attended Holy Communion in a body at 8 o'clock. Motion pictures were taken of the group as they marched to the communion rail.

Other officers elected were: Ray Dohr, vice president; Edward Alesch, treasurer; Theodore Sanders, financial secretary; Al Stogbauer, reelected recording secretary; John A. Bergman, marshal; Edward Fischer, banner carrier; Henry Tillman, song director; Leo Rechner, publicity agent. The following trustees were elected: Louis Schweitzer, Frank Groh and Henry Otto. The Rev. Pacificus Rath was reelected spiritual director.

The failure of the husband and wife to carry out the marriage contract is the cause for the majority of divorces," said the Rev. George Clifford, pastor of St. Patrick church at Menasha, in an address on Marriage and Divorce, at the breakfast before the business meeting.

The scored divorce as a direct opposition to the will of the Divine Being. The solution of divorce will not be found in birth control or teaching of sex hygiene, Father Clifford said. Birth control, he said, is not in harmony with the will of God. Teaching of sex hygiene, he said, is not proper. The solution is to teach humans the value of virtue.

He defended the church in its annulment of the marriage of Consuelo Vanderbilt and the Duke of Marlborough. The church did not grant a divorce, he said. He compared the annulment of the marriage with the annulment of many civil contracts by civil courts. If there can be proven facts that will show that the civil agreement was not lawfully contracted, a civil court will declare such a contract null and void, he said. It was proven that in this instance there had never been a real marriage contract and for this reason the church granted an annulment, he pointed out.

The Catholic church believes in marriage until death doth part the contracting parties, the Rev. Clifford declared, and for this reason divorce is strenuously objected to. He pleaded for the sanctity of the home and urged men to be patient with their wives. There are bound to be small troubles and disagreements, he said, but if they are shared equally, they will soon disappear.

Some Folks Still Don't Know Schedule At Courthouse

This is not news! The courthouse is officially closed 52 Saturday afternoons of each and every calendar year and there is no indication that the usual order will be changed. This schedule has been in effect for several years.

At high noon Saturday, to all intents and purposes, county activities cease to "activate" and the employees are at liberty to pursue the even tenor of their various and sundry personal ways.

Regardless of this condition, however, many persons with official business either forget or never knew that the county building closes, it was reported this week. Saturday afternoon one official working alone in the building received 11 callers who were seeking other officers of the county.

It was suggested that persons who have important business with county officials, that they can not transact at any other time than Saturday afternoon, telephone, and make a special appointment, or write, rather than inconvenience themselves to the extent of a fruitless journey to the building.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED BY LOAN ASSOCIATION

A 6 per cent annual dividend on paid-up shares and an 8 per cent on installment shares was declared at a meeting of directors of the Appleton Building and Loan association Thursday. The amount of the paid-up share dividend for the six months period ending Jan. 1 will be $12,000, and of the installment share payment, $9,000, George Beckley, secretary of the association, said.

The annual meeting of the organization will be held the second Thursday in January at the new location of the company at 324 W. College-ave.

BUILDERS WILL SERVE TABLE LUNCH TUESDAY

A table lunch will be served at the weekly meeting of the Master Builders' association Tuesday evening at the Insurance building. O. H. Ullrich and Richard Ferge of Milwaukee, financial and general secretaries of the Wisconsin State Association of Master Builders, will be present.

EXTEND CHRISTMAS RECESS AT COLLEGE

Students Will Be Dismissed Wednesday Noon, Dec. 22, Faculty Decides

Christmas vacation at Lawrence college was extended at a special meeting of the faculty held Friday afternoon. School will close at 12 o'clock Wednesday noon, Dec. 22, and will open at 12:30 Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 4, instead of 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, as originally planned.

This makes an actual increase of almost one day, and gives a holiday of practically 14 days, as few students have classes in the afternoon and will not have to return until time for classes the following Wednesday morning. Convocation will be omitted on the last day of school, Wednesday, so that classes may be dismissed at 12 o'clock instead of 12:30.

The faculty established a similar ruling of time for all vacations next year.

A bank which will take five years to complete, and which, next to the Bank of England will be the largest in Great Britain, is now under construction.

32ND DIVISION OF GUARD RANKS THIRD IN BATTLE DEATHS

1,709 Wisconsin Sons Made Supreme Sacrifice in World War

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—The thirty-second division Wisconsin and Michigan National Guard ranked third among all the combat divisions in battle deaths in the World War, a check which occupied seven years made public by the War Department Sunday.

The thirty-second had a total of 5,023 battle deaths. The only divisions to exceed it were the first with 4,996 and the third with 3,401. The thirty-second which went through the war under the command of the late Major General Hahn had 2,250 men killed in action, and 778 died of their wounds. A total of 10,233 of the thirty-second's men received wounds that were not mortal, bringing the total battle casualties to 13,261.

A total of 1,709 of Wisconsin's sons made the supreme sacrifice in the World War. Of these 1,335 were killed in action and 456 died of their wounds. In addition 2,467 Eastern States soldiers received wounds which were not mortal, bringing to Wisconsin total casualties of 7,592.

Wisconsin men were on the roster of every division in the World War. The task of rechecking and verifying the hundreds of thousands of battle casualties suffered by the United States Army during the World War and of compiling detail statistics on the subject was the biggest task of paper work ever attempted by the Adjutant General's office. Final figures show a total of 55,510 battle deaths of which 37,568 occurred in action and 17,942 resulted from wounds. 579 were officers and 12,383 show that 132,663 non-mortal wounds received treatment in the cases of 182,674 individuals, making a grand total of 244,173 battle casualties.

Of the 37,568 killed in action, 1,656 were officers and 35,912 were enlisted men. Of the 182,674 individuals who were wounded, but not mortally, 6,475 were officers and 176,199 were enlisted men. Many individuals were wounded more than once, the number of additional non-mortal wounds treated being 19,959.

FLORIDA RENTS DROP 50 PER CENT AND MORE

Whether it is due to the recent hurricane, rents in Florida have dropped 50 per cent and more and business activities have declined almost to the vanishing point, according to a letter received from E. F. Carroll of the Carroll and Carroll Real Estate company of this city who left last week to spend the winter in Florida. Mrs. Carroll is to join Mr. Carroll in January.

Mr. Carroll wrote that he had rented a large house with a garage and a large yard for $20 per month. The same house had rented for more than twice that amount last year. Mr. Carroll said. He is at St. Cloud. On his way to St. Cloud he stopped off for a visit with a group of former Appleton citizens who make their home at Orlando, Fla. They are Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Smith, Mrs. D. G. Stowe and Ralph Gibson.

Businessmen in that vicinity, Mr. Carroll said, indicated that business activities have dropped very much in the past six months. Apartments at St. Petersburg that were renting for $150 to $250 per month may now be had at from $50 to $75.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded after taking enough or gold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MANY REGISTERING FOR ADVERTISING CLASS NEXT MONTH

Course to Be Sponsored by Advertising Club Will Last
Nine Weeks

Registrations have been coming in rapidly for the nine weeks' course in advertising for beginners to be sponsored by the Appleton Advertising club, according to H. E. Schlitz, chairman of the committee in charge of registrations.

The course was planned after noting the success of the advanced classes in copy writing conducted by the club during the past six months. Classes in the beginner's course will be held at the Appleton Vocational school starting on the evening of Jan. 7. This course is to be similar to one offered several years ago by the local club.

It is based on the text book, "A Short Course in Advertising," by Alex F. Osborne, an advertising man whose experience has been broad and intensive. Mr. Osborne has drawn on experiences of almost a thousand marketing men and he has written the book in a way that will assist the average business man to dissect and solve his own problems.

Members of the Appleton Advertising club will conduct the weekly classes. A member of the class who is in the particular kind of advertising to be studied at the weekly lesson will have charge of that class.

Every phase of advertising, including newspaper, magazine, window trimming, sales counter decorating, show cards, uses of illustrations, trade and commercial papers, physiology of advertising, national advertising, direct mail and circular advertising will be studied.

Letters telling of the class were sent to manufacturers, distributors and retailers who might be interested in joining the class or having their employees enroll for the course. It was impossible to reach every person by letter who might want to join the class, so the plan was to have the employer inform his employees of it. Registrations are limited and a large number already have signified their intention of joining.

ERECT IRON FRAME IN TREASURER'S OFFICE

A triangular iron frame, dismantled and stored away in the city hall for several years, was resurrected Friday and installed in front of the window at the city treasurer's office. The frame will be kept there during tax collection time, according to Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer, who believes it will facilitate the difficulty often experienced in handling large crowds. Tax payers will approach the treasurer's window from one direction and depart in another, the frame keeping the people in an orderly line.

STAMP COLLECTORS PREPARE FOR SHOW

Annual Boys' Department Exhibit at Y. M. C. A. to Be Held Jan. 1

Stamp collectors among boys of the Y. M. C. A. are putting in extra "flecks" these days to complete real collections within a few weeks for exhibit at the annual boys' department hobby show again on New Years day as a part of the association open house program. Not only the stamp collectors, but the boat modelers, and in fact every boy who has any kind of a hobby, are busy working for the show. And what boy hasn't some hobby, strange though it may be?

There will be a place for everything in the year's show, according to John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. No matter how insignificant a youth's hobby seems, it will be placed in a certain class where it will be in fair competition with other hobbies. Dozens of prizes are given away for the best hobbies in various classes to those showing the most work, thought and care.

Among the hobbies which are expected to feature this year's show is a model hydroplane fitted with a motor which actually runs the plane, and a model locomotive, which will be entered if its builder can complete it in time. It is planned to have a special section for pets this year so that the lad who makes a hobby of a pet will have a chance at the prizes.

A Hundred and One Tricks VS.

De Bauger Perfect Power Products

In the old days when we used to "burn up the roads at twenty miles per hour" and wrap up the old bus and put it on the shelf during the long winter months — we were not confronted with the question of the proper motor fuel for winter driving. Today the story has changed,—a hundred and one tricks and contrivances are placed on the market, recommended to cure all driving discomforts, and the motorist is the goat.

Some are good, it is true, and add much to the comforts of winter driving and reliable accessory shops can supply such needs at fair prices.

But the things that count the most are three—your Gasoline, your Crank Case Oil and your Chassis Lubrication. Experienced drivers, those who have been through the mill, tie up with the utmost confidence to De Bauger Perfect Power Products. They use only De Bauger Tested Gasoline, De Bauger 100% Pure Pennsylvania Oil and have their cars greased and lubricated on De Bauger's Modern Greasing Racks by men who know how and do a thorough job.

The Orange Colored Pumps are the sign of De Bauger Perfect Power Products. You'll find them at convenient locations in Appleton, neighboring cities and throughout the county.

DOHENY TELLS STORY
Edward L. Doheny, who is on trial with former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, for conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with oil leases, has taken the witness stand in his own defense. Mr. Doheny is a remarkable character, in the fact that he has made a great fortune in oil pioneering, beginning with nothing. He doubtless has a likable personality, and possesses those qualities which engender friendship, admiration and respect. Possibly some ordinary mortals stand in awe because of his success and enormous fortune. Certainly those who have amassed wealth in anything like the degree he has feel in him a kindred spirit. They would accept his version of a transaction as against the word of a lesser light who disputed it. In other words, he has place and dignity in the world of action which surround him with an atmosphere of favor and protection. There are many who would believe in him and his motives, regardless of the most derogatory facts.

Mr. Doheny on the stand told a romantic story of his rise from a humble origin to the station of an oil colossus. He related his early acquaintance with Fall and a friendship that continued throughout life. He painted a sympathetic picture of Fall's uphill fight and of his desire to help an old friend in need. That was why he "loaned" his ex-secretary $100,000 to expand his ranch holdings in the Southwest. It was a plausible tale, embellished with picturesque color and sustained by a picturesque personality.

But it is convincing, we think, only to those who wish to be convinced. Mr. Doheny may be able to say to himself, after several years of meditation and in the face of indictment, that it was a perfectly clean loan and devoid of the purposes of influencing Mr. Fall in the execution of contracts by the government that Doheny admits were worth to him $100,000,000 in net profits. It does seem that $100,000 was a pitiful sum to pay for such profits, and it seems perhaps inconsistent that a man already possessed of great wealth would stoop to bribery to acquire additional wealth. But suppositions in such cases are not of much value; men do strange things, when there would seem to be no excuse for their action; and wealth, power or position does not close the mind to mischief and wrongdoing.

Human psychology is not a thing to be accounted for by fixed rules. We have to be governed by facts. The facts are that Fall asked Doheny for $100,000 while the oil leases were pending, that he did not want to receive the money in the form of a check and that it was sent to him in currency in a satchel by messenger. The story that Fall had to pay cash to those from whom he was making purchases does not hold water. The actual currency is never needed and never used in such transactions. There was something to cover up, and it was covered up. That something in Mr. Fall's mind, no matter the operations that were going on in Mr. Doheny's head, was a realization that the taking of this money was and could only be fairly regarded as a bribe. Not only this, but Mr. Fall falsified about the "loan," giving out the impression when the disclosures were first made that he had obtained the money elsewhere. And Mr. Doheny tore the signature off the note Fall gave for the "loan."

Every sensible person knows that when the facts became public, creating a national scandal, and Mr. Sinclair, another defendant in a similar conspiracy and bribery case, fled from the country to Europe, had the truth been as Mr. Doheny now attempts to make it appear there would have been instantaneous refutation by both Doheny and Fall of the implications contained in the $100,000 deal, and a demand for prompt reparation. Instead Mr. Fall resigned, a broken man, making absolutely no defense, and slunk off into obscurity. For the next several years both he and Doheny, through the ablest lawyers Mr. Doheny's millions could retain, employed every device known to legal science and art to postpone, evade and prevent trial of the charges against them. This is not the procedure of men unjustly accused.

Mr. Doheny cannot get away with his tale to people of horse sense, and with undistorted conceptions of right and honesty. Fall was bribed. He admitted it in a hundred ways. It was one of the rottenest transactions ever put over in the history of our government. It makes no difference to us what the jury finds nor will it to millions of clear-headed, straight-thinking people. The facts speak for themselves, and there is no denial of these. Mr. Doheny's word is of no more value than that of any other reputable citizen. The American people know bribery when they see it. Juries may not, but the people do, and they have passed on this case, with full justice, long ago. If these defendants escape it will be a rank miscarriage of justice and nothing else.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION
The supreme court of the State of New York has just rendered an opinion that has a very vital bearing on every newspaper, as it serves to clear up in that state and to act as an influence in other states a moot point relative to the publication of newspaper stories based upon bills of complaint filed when suit is begun.

It has always been contended by newspapers that these bills of complaint are the first step in bringing a suit and as such they become upon their filing, public property and are thus privileged for publication. Plaintiffs, in libel suits against newspapers, have claimed that this is not so, that there is no real suit until there is a summons served and that the state of demand accompanying summons is the first information properly available for publication.

In the New York decision the court has found in favor of the newspapers, and very properly so. "We are of the opinion," says the court in conclusion, "that the complaint in the fraud action against the plaintiff herein (upon which the newspaper story was based), was a public document signaling a step in a judicial proceeding. It was filed pursuant to the law and at once became a public record in a public office and accessible to anyone desiring to inspect the same. It seems idle to us to say that it was not a step in a judicial proceeding and properly the subject of comment and discussion in the public press."

Newspapers, in their endeavor to mirror the life of their communities with exactness and completeness, are faced with a thousand prohibitions and inhibitions. Libel is expensive and it is a delicate matter to determine where privilege ends and libel begins. The New York decision helps to draw the line with more exactness.

THE TRUTH
The difficulty is to get the truth.
One swears to this, the other swears to that.
We never know exactly where we are.
Age has a wider margin of life than youth.
On some things it's plain as it can be,
May and December never can agree.

A woman's world is trimmed with silk and lace,
She would be loved and sheltered through the years.
Her latest enemies are frowns and tears,
But man has sterner foes, he thinks, to face.
His is a boisterous life. Let beauty fade,
What matters that, if money can be made?

Each is the center of a little ring,
From which a certain viewpoint may be had.
What one deems good another vows is bad.
Only man's misfortune wealth to me may bring,
And so I judge all matters that I see Always as they affect my own and me.

The difficulty is to get the truth,
And by much not wholly understood.
What's had today, tomorrow may seem good.
The world of age is not the world of youth.
Women and men to different viewpoints cling.
From personal interests all our judgments spring.

Health Talks

"Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. TALE OF THE FORTY FATHERS
Not long ago I devoted several issues on the question of sex education. I discussed the matter from several different points of view, but in each item I appealed particularly to parental concern for the welfare of the child.

It is a curious thing, and it has happened many times before. It makes one think and wonder. The reaction or response to these articles was characteristic. I received a great many requests from parents for help or guidance in the proper instruction or children in reference to sex life, about four thousand this time. The curious part of it is this: among all these letters there were only 40 from fathers. The ratio is normal, though a little shameful, I think. A large share of the 4,000 letters from mothers were from mothers of sons, and these mothers wanted to give their sons a fair deal. What about the fathers of these sons? Don't they care at all?

It seems to me that boys are in far greater need of proper instruction or education about sex life than girls. It seems to me that my fathers are inclined to behave in a cowardly if not a callous fashion in regard to the teaching of our sons. If it is hard for a father to take his young son to his heart and tell the boy what the boy should be told, talk with him as man to man, give him a father's confidence and inspire in him the sort of confidence a boy should feel in his father, how much more difficult it must be for mother to assume this responsibility when father dodges it.

Have fathers a yellow streak in them? It seems to me they have, we have. Discounting the fact that mothers outnumber fathers about seven to one in all the letters I get, still I cannot help thinking, when mothers outnumber fathers 100 to one in the endeavor to provide proper instruction for sons, that this showing reflects the double standard of morals. I can comprehend how a nonmarrying sort of person can uphold and defend the double standard of morals but I can't quite see how a father can give it even a tacit acceptance. This a father does when he leaves his son to pick up his sex education wherever the boy can find it.

Still, I am glad to record in my mind the fact that these 40 fathers, out of 4,000 parents, did take a step toward establishing a bond with their sons. Perhaps there are a good many others who have taken the same step but not within my ken. I hope there are. The family doctor, the boy's physical education teacher at school—if the school is a good one—or the pastor if the pastor is a regular fellow, these are all excellent sources of good instruction for a father to turn to if he feels incapable of handling it himself. I hope a good many fathers have done this, under the stimulus of my preachments, and that this tale of the 40 fathers is not really so bad as it sounds.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Victim of Exposure
I want to state that I think your teachings are absolutely sound. If the old hokum about catching "colds" and rheumatism from exposure were true, most of the men of the American army would have succumbed before they reached France. The fact is that most of us came back in better physical condition from the so called exposure to which we were subjected. The trouble with most city dwellers seems to be too much exposure to the fireside, or the steam radiator. (S. P. G.)

Answer—Thank you, brother, but that's no way for an old soldier to talk! Suppose you want to get a pension on a claim you made when the damp ground one night and contracted rheumatism? (Sweating)

Is it . . . harmful to use to stop unpleasant perspiration under the arms? (P. L. H.)

Answer—I believe the preparation you mention is a disguised solution of aluminum chloride. Foul or excessive sweating under the arms may be controlled by mopping the armpits on alternate days for three or four times with a solution of half an ounce of aluminum chloride in three ounces of distilled or rain water. Allow this to dry on the skin before dressing. Occasionally some irritation and itching occurs, but the use of the solution is unobjectionable otherwise.

Piles
What have you to distribute on the subject of piles? (E. W.)

Answer—Not a thing. If you are the subject of piles, mention that fact, inclose a stamped envelope bearing your address, and I will be glad to send you some advice. But in no circumstances do I desire to broadcast information about disease. (Copyright John F. Dille company.)

MY HOW SMART OUR BOYS ARE GETTING!
Editor of Post-Crescent—The editorial appearing under the caption "The Philippine Report," in the December 7 issue of the Post-Crescent, did not fail to amuse me immensely. Such narrow-mindedness and unadulterated bunkum clamors for a more logical and intelligent point of view.

The propaganda of foreign Philippine exploitation has proven to be a convenient mask behind which to hide our own greed and selfishness. Do not forget that the vision of great Filipino hemp and copra resources still attract American capitalists. As to the face of possible military aggression if the islands are given their independence. The Four Power Treaty, the League of Nations and the Nine Power Treaty have been specially pointed toward the peace of the Pacific and toward good will of the nations, with Philippine security further strengthened by the fact that the U. S. has Japan, literally, by the throat controlling 65% of her silk exports. Were you aware of the fact that in 1920 Premier Hara pledged himself to a joint agreement between the U. S. and Japan to preserve and protect the Philippine independence, which makes it very obvious that the fear of foreign aggression, if we relinquish our hold on the islands, is only an overwrought editors dream.

Speaking of educational facilities and Filipino initiative and intelligence. Did you now that there has been an increase of over 2000 public schools since 1913, in the islands themselves? Did it ever occur to you to persecute the Wood-Forbes report as to the Filipino intelligence rating? In the last 10 or 15 years the Filipinos have accomplished more along educational lines than any similar group in any part of the world.

Recalling the absurd statement, in substance, that "the Filipinos should forget sentimentality and leave us guide them to protect their own economic interests." Let me turn the tables and by citing facts and figures prove to you that the U. S. is actually harming the Philippines by keeping them in subjection. At the recent Washington Conference they were ignored. They are one of the largest territories in the Pacific and they should have had their own representative. They know their needs far better than we do. Certainly, we are a hindrance to them in a diplomatic way. It is a little known truth that the financial affairs of the islands are controlled by the U. S., hindering all quick action of needed Filipino capital and retarding progress which only funds can encourage. Official governmental action is needed, and nothing works slower than the U. S. Gov't.

We also harm them in a commercial way. How? For the reason that our President could declare the coastwise laws extended to the Philippine islands hampering immeasurably their advancement. We are thus harming them, seriously harming them, in which they can govern themselves.

Admiral Dewey said, "The Philippines are more capable of self government than the island of Cuba to which we have granted complete independence."

ence." and in 1920, 6 years ago, President Wilson in his speech before Congress stated that the Philippines had established a stable form of government, and consequently it was the duty of the U. S. to grant them their independence at that time.

Upon the foregoing arguments, facts and figures I base all my contentions on the Affirmative side of the question. It is my hope that this article has presented, fairly, our

See-Sawing On Broadway
By Gilbert Swan

New York — Broadway now boasts a theater where hot dogs are served in the lobby to ladies in ermines and chinchillas and men in evening clothes.

The performance starts at midnight and ends just in time for the theatergoers to arrive at the night clubs at the proper morning hours.

Meanwhile they can partake of hot dogs and their appetites whetted, can save money at the various resorts.

And one of the favorite amusements at the present time among Broadway "slummers" is having photographs taken at a little slot machine picture gallery.

One wanders in and drops a quarter in the slot. A lens is automatically focused and photos are shot at several angles. The films are automatically developed and printed, and within a few moments, out drop eight pictures.

The novelty is cleaning up a veritable mint.

With all due respect to "Abie's Irish Rose," the most popular attraction on Broadway is the flea circus. It has been running steadily for more than a year though the cast has been changed many times due to the escape of fleas and death or age of performers.

Whereas Abie gets only nightly audiences, with occasional matinees, the performing fleas come on with a show every few hours during the rush hours and, it is safe to say, that they have a drawing record that few of the famous Broadway stars can boast.

The fleas attract thousands of "repealers" who have found it hard to believe upon a first visit that fleas actually have been trained to do various stunts, including drawing tiny vehicles.

It is figured that the theatrical fleas will be able to enjoy a continuous run for two or three years. For a time it was quite a vogue among the Bohemians of Manhattan to attend this novelty en masse. Thereafter the fleas gained even further notice by appearing in movies. Several of the "magazines of culture" wrote articles about them.

"Little brown brothers" side of the controversy.

INDIAN PROPERTY IN STATE VALUED AT $15,613,006

Indian Population of Wisconsin Is Estimated at Approximately 349,874

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington, D. C.—The value of individual and tribal Indian property in Wisconsin is $15,613,006, of which $4,484,093 is individual and $11,128,913 is tribal. Commissioner of Indian Affairs Burke said in his annual report made public Friday.

Of the total Wisconsin Indian individual funds as shown by Burke's report $1,760,087 was represented by lands, exclusive of timber; $120,063 timber; $1,336,918 funds in banks and in the hands of superintendents; $705,206 homes, furniture, barns, etc.; $265,700 wagons, implements, etc.; $256,225 stock, poultry, and miscellaneous.

Of tribal property $4,055,062 represented land, exclusive of timber; $4,075,419 timber and stock; and $5,018,492 balance of funds in treasury.

A complete audit of the records and a revaluation of the physical plant at the Menominee Indian Mills, Wisconsin, have been made during the year. The new system of accounting outlined for this project will correct many of the difficulties in management which have existed for some time, and if the new system be faithfully applied the books should exhibit at all times the actual success that is being achieved, Burke said.

The report also shows that 548 additional names have been added to those on the old tribal roll of the Chippewa Indians of "Lac du Flambeau" Reservation, and allotments are to be made later.

The Indian population of the entire United States is estimated at 349,874. Oklahoma has the largest population, 120,487; Arizona is second with 44,723; and South Dakota third with 24,456. Wisconsin's Indian population is estimated at 349,874. Of this number 4,134 are male and 3,553 female.

The estimated number of Indian children of school age in Wisconsin is 2,099, of which number 2,038 are attending school.

A wide reorganization of the health, educational, and industrial activities and general administration of the Indian affairs in the nation as a whole was the principal accomplishment of the past fiscal year, Burke said.

CANADA IMPROVES CHEESE BY GRADING

Madison — (AP) — Canadian government grading of cheese in recent years has been largely responsible for the improvement in quality of the Dominion's produce, according to William Winder of the state department of markets. Mr. Winder recently returned from Canada, where he studied the various phases of the cheese industry with attention centered on the government grading system.

The government grading of cheese in Canada is a well established institution, he said, favorably looked upon by all interests. Under this system all American or Cheddar cheese is graded by government employees. The work is very carefully done and detailed records are kept of every lot of cheese made as well as of the entire production of every factory, he said. The manufacturer is kept informed as to the grader's findings regarding the quality and packaging. In this way the government graders are kept in close contact with the cheesemakers thus providing a channel by means of which misunderstanding and difficulties are eliminated.

Mr. Winder expects to discuss the question of grading cheese in Wisconsin at the convention of the Wisconsin Cheesemakers' association to be held in Milwaukee, Dec. 15, 16 and 17.

IRISH NAME LUCKY

San Francisco—Thirteen years ago James Kelly was a bus boy in one of the leading hotels here. The other day he came back as a first class guest. His name used to be Demetrius Kellys, he explained, but when he arrived in this country his friends began calling him Kelly, and later Jim Kelly. The Irish name seemed to bring him luck, he said, as his restaurant in the Rocky Mountains near Boise, Idaho, grew into a chain of eating houses.

Reporters Have Weekly Interview With Coolidge

Washington—Twice a week the office of President Coolidge is virtually filled by two or three score newspapermen eager to tell the American people what the president thinks and intends to do about matters concerning the nation. These conferences occur at noon Tuesday and at 4 o'clock Friday.

In a large, circular room, looking out through great bay windows to the White House grounds at the rear, sits Mr. Coolidge, dressed in a severely cut black sack suit. He wears a stiff collar with points and a dull gray cravat. The reporters assemble in a semi-circle about his massive old walnut desk.

There is one book on the desk—"Foundations of the Republic," a collection of "speeches and addresses" by Mr. Coolidge himself. There are newspapers laid out neatly at one side. Various type of White House stationery are pigeon-holed before the executive and a dozen newly sharpened pencils lay at his right. A typed appointment list is ever under his eye.

Behind the president, at conference time, is an unobtrusive secret service man and two others are in the rear of the room, at the backs of the newspapermen.

The room's only picture is an etching of Lincoln, high on the wall at the president's left. It portrays a much homelier Abe than most portraits.

The correspondents all are inside and at attention when the president slowly rises, puts on his tortoise shell glasses and takes up a sheet of typewritten questions which the reporters have submitted in advance. The newspapermen poised with pencils and note-paper ready for action. Some of the press association men stay at the rear to dash for telephones if Mr. Coolidge makes news too hot to wait until the end of the conference.

The president having cleared his throat, the White House spokesman begins to speak. He does all the talking, in fact, for the president himself must not be quoted. It is interesting to note that the spokesman, who, as has been said, looks remarkably like the president, has lost some of the nasal Vermont twang with which he first came to Washington, although he still says "dunno" and his accents are not to be mistaken for those of a Scandinavian.

The spokesman takes up the questions one by one. A majority of them he refers to the cabinet heads—the president knows these situations in a general way, but would prefer to have a subordinate discuss the details.

He will not elaborate on his Kansas City speech—it is his general policy to make a speech plain enough so all can understand and let it go.

at that. He would like to clear up the "ambiguity—not to say misunderstanding" that arose over the president's tax rebate suggestion. What everyone concerned meant, the spokesman said, was a tax reduction. The matter of the Mexican notes is referred to the state department.

Finally the spokesman says he guesses that is about all and the president sits down, resuming his long cigar, which responds on a dinky little plain white holder.

The new correspondent then is introduced to the president. The president greets him, not exactly like a brother Elk, but cordially and with a smile. The president talks with this correspondent several minutes, discussing the conference, newspaper work and another subject or two of mutual interest. As the correspondent goes out he is told to feel at home and that everyone at the White House will be glad to do anything for him that is possible.

3,000 DEER SHOT

Denver, Col.—During the four-day open season in Colorado this year more than 3,000 buck deer were shot, according to reports reaching P. G. Parvin, state game and fish commissioner. About the same number was killed during the open season last year, Parvin said. The game and fish department is considering recommending a closed season for two or three years to give the deer a chance to multiply.

ROAD ENGINEERS FORCED TO QUIT AS WINTER COMES

All But 20 Miles of State's 1926 Projects Are Completed This Year

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin highway engineers have retreated before "Old Man Winter" with all but 20 miles of the state's 1926 projects finished. They have gone into winter quarters after the last round with cold weather during the week of Nov. 8 when less than one mile was poured.

A construction report by the highway commission says that "bad weather" bounded the contractors consistently throughout the season, and it was only by heroic efforts that they carried the work along as far as they did.

"In the five weeks ending Nov. 13, 28.75 miles of concrete was placed, bringing the total for the year to 195.67 miles. During the last week, from the 5th to the 13th, less than one mile was poured and not a contractor came up for the next round against the Old Man.

"Since last month's report the best single day's work was done by the Morris Martin company, which placed 1,022 feet of 20-foot concrete, a figure within 111 feet of the record run of the Kramp construction company.

"Very respectable weekly totals were made by three outfits. Chief among these was a week's work by the J. F. Bloomer-Wausau Iron works combination, 4,966 feet of 20-ft. pavement. This is the third best week's work for the year, only 211 feet less than the Kramp record.

"R. R. Burdall and J. R. Griffith pooled their forces and turned in a week of 4,437 of 20-ft. concrete. "Perry Foss, rushing to finish his Monroe-Juda job, laid 4,032 feet of 20-ft pavement in one week.

"The Kramp Construction company of Berlin, Wis., established its right to be termed the speed champion of the 1926 concrete outfits. Its record runs of 1,133 feet of 20-foot pavement in one day, and 5,177 feet of 20-foot concrete in one week, both made on the Watertown-Sun Prairie road in Dane co, are likely to stand for more than one season.

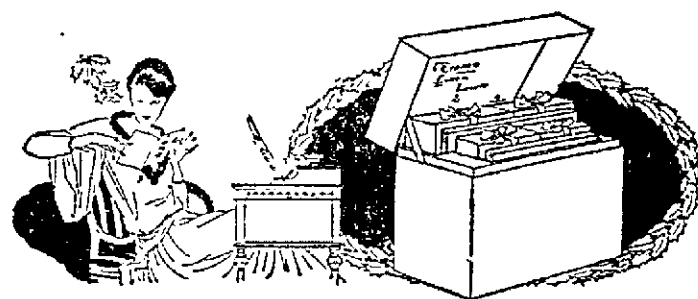

"The second best week's work was done by the Winnebago-co day labor crew, which placed 5,606 feet of 18-ft concrete in one week, equivalent to 5,043.4 feet of 20-foot pavement.

"Victor Nelson can now almost quit worrying that someone will come along and beat his records for gravel surfacing this year. We predict that his 324 cubic yards in one day, and 3,333 cubic yards in one week, both marks made on the Prego-Minong road in Washburn co will stand until Victor Nelson shoots 'm all in pieces in 1927."

To The People of Appleton:

Q The mind of your child is the one factor that quite naturally commands your most serious consideration; the importance of training and developing the child mind cannot be overstated.

Q For this purpose music is indispensable. Authorities tell us music is one of the best mediums to develop children's character and mind in order to bring together muscular coordination and thought. Music also adds a charm to the personality that cannot be otherwise instilled.

Q Parents, buy for your child, as a Christmas Gift, a Brambach Baby Grand. Give to the youngster the best in small grand music. When your sons and daughters have grown to maturity, they will be equipped to go anywhere, at ease in any social occasion, possessing an art that you alone can give to them.

Q I would like to tell you personally about the influence a Brambach has had on some of the children of this community. I want you to know what an ideal Christmas Gift a Brambach Grand will be. Won't you come in some day soon; then we can chat about the whole matter—all without obligation, of course.

WOMEN DISLIKE DAILY ROUTINE

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THE woman who gets up in the morning facing a day of routine duties sighs as she looks out of the window at midday in her limousine driving toward town.

There flashes into her mind's eye a picture of jeweler's shops, mirrored salons, florists and milliners. Surely, surely, she can be riding now where else when she goes toward town. She has nothing to do but spend money! How wonderful it would be to be rich and know everybody and do everything!

The routine woman may be interested to know that the woman she is envying for her good times and freedom fits into her limousine and her social position as immovably as a lock fits into a door. She is a slave of place and custom far more than her seemingly less fortunate sister who, by management, may salvage a little of her time from a busy day for herself.

The woman of place and position with a large menage to look after, rises early. She has as much on her mind as the man who is managing a large business. Multiply the personal supervision of a small house and a servant by six or seven and you can imagine the problem of the envied one. She probably dislikes letter writing as heartily as any other woman, yet her mail box is full of notes, invitations, bills, subscription requests and what not that must be answered at once. And not in haste! She may keep a secretary's clock, but even then it means at least an hour's conference. Her shopping (if it must be done in the morning hours) is merely more routine business.

Still, yes! But it is the dresser's means an hour or more of weary standing in a sitting room of some fashionable couturier trying on conservative fashions. Midday gets little thrill out of the quiet dressing that good taste demands. It is part of her uniform.

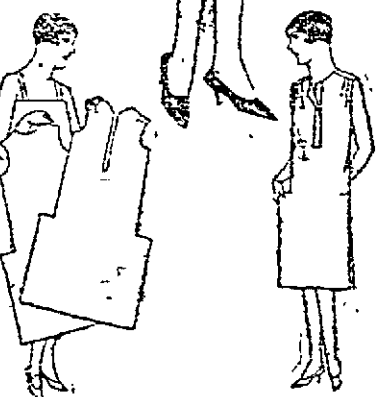

Her afternoons and evenings are an endless round of social affairs that years are lost their meaning. Routine, all of it. Yet she must go on. Her position demands it. She must keep it up until her children are established at least.

Many glance at the little house and sighs. Then she may be free and have something easy and simple like that, perhaps!

"When do we put the feed bags on, Faith?" "Long" drew a chair scragglingly to the table and began to tap out a jazz tune with his fork and plate. "Hurray! We'll have a saucer-kraut! Attagirl! At's the kangaroo's camisole!"

"Well," Mr. Lane, going to the table, "ain't your Ma comin' to supper?" "She'll be in in a minute," Faith said. "What are you looking so pleased about, Dad? You look like the cat that swallowed the canary."

"New job o' work," Mr. Lane acknowledged with a gruffness that did not hide his pleasure. "Oh, hello, Martha. Feelin' better today, honey?" "I been nearly dead with a sick headache all day," Mrs. Lane advanced slowly into the room, her shadowed eyes mournful under a camphor-soaked bandage that encircled her brow. "What's all that about a new job? Got a barn to build, I guess," she concluded bitterly.

"Barn, your aunt! Jim Lane surprised them all by chuckling with more wholehearted pleasure than he had shown since the announcement of Cherry's engagement. "Lincoln Pruitt's save me the contract to build a big ten-car garage for him, back of his wholesale grocery. Concrete floor, two stories, upper floor for mechanics, and an elevator to take cars up for overhauling. Guess you might call a twenty thousand dollar garage a barn."

During the rejoicing that followed, no one heard Faith's softly uttered, "Dear George!"

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL GO TO SCHOOL TO LEARN HOW TO COURT—MATRIMONIAL COLLEGE TO TEACH 'LIFE'S MOST SERIOUS BUSINESS'

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Adding to the complexities of modern education has come a new course of study which, when a scientific name is evolved, will be called something like "maritology." It is the study of marriage.

For matrimony is, or should be, a science, according to the dean of the marriage school which has been started here. He is the Rev. Lawrence A. Wilson, pastor of the Mission Hills Congregational church.

"Love" courtships carried on under a waning moon too often come to an end under the spotlight of the divorce court," said Mr. Wilson in describing his experiment.

"It is easy marriage and not easy divorce which constitutes our greatest domestic problem today. There are more divorces because there is more unhappiness in marriage. The greater unhappiness is the result of inadequate thought and preparation for the most serious business in life."

With these and other observations gained from his ministerial experience, Mr. Wilson decided to start a marriage school, with himself and his wife as instructors and a student body recruited from the ranks of San Diego's young people. The school was started experimentally; now the classes are filled, and an "extension division" is sending advice to persons in other cities and even other states.

The Wilsons first noted the need for such a school after innumerable questions were asked them by young men and women. Many of them felt that the family would not long survive and that marriage would become an unnecessary social custom.

"Frank questions demanded frank answers, so we organized the school," said Mr. Wilson. "But in addition to the sociological and physiological aspects of marriage, our class discussions take up those trifling little details of married life which in the long run are so important."

"Young men take the study more seriously than the girls, and are especially interested in the new economic freedom of women. They all want to support their wives, but question whether a woman will be happy in a home after she has worked for a salary."

"What we particularly want to accomplish is to make young people think about marriage and realize the seriousness of it. Often I have had to stop wedding ceremonies until the principals could straighten out their faces. A few months later, courts of domestic relations were handing out divorces.

"To the young woman; I say, 'Have your boy friend take you to church and see how he acts. Judge whether you have common interests and sympathies on a high spiritual plane. If so, your marriage has every chance to be successful. See that your courtship is partly carried on in a church, and then be married there. "If it does nothing else, the association of a church lends a solemnity and formality which are prohibitive of thoughtlessness and hasty marriage."

"Hear this statement from the judge of one of the country's largest domestic courts:

"I have handled all the divorce cases of this district for more than 20 years and I never yet have had a couple applying for divorce, both of whom were at that time regularly attending church."

Mrs. Wilson, "dean of women" in the marriage school, approved the sophisticated frankness of the modern girl. "No girl should feign shyness or innocence," she said. "This is so sudden!" is an exclamation which has no place in modern woman's repertoire. Nor should a girl wait passively until some young man happens along, for when he does, he is likely to be just 'some' young man and not 'the' young man.

"Haters should be the attitude of watchful waiting. I don't mean she should be aggressive in an unmaidenly way. But she should consciously determine to prepare for the normal climax of a friendship with the man whom she has chosen for her special favors. Any other attitude is a mighty poor pose."

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

THE Tinymites all yelled "Hurrah!" and started off, and on their way they saw a lot of wondrous sights that Santa pointed out. Said Santa Claus, "I guess that we, to start things off, will stop and see the Doll House." And this plan, of course, was greeted with a shout.

A lot of funny little men went running by them now and then, and Santa shortly told them they were dwarfs that he employs. "I need a lot of help," said he, "cause I'm as busy as can be, and all these dwarfs assist me in the making of my toys."

"Say, if there's something we can do," said Scowry, "we will help you, too." "Would he a lot of fun to know that we had made kids smile," "Well, that's just fine," said Santa Claus, "but let's forget it now because there's lots to see, and we can think about that after while."

A dwarf ran up and said, "I beg your pardon, but I've lost a leg." This startled all the Tinymites. They thought it sad, of course. But then they found that they were wrong. His legs were right where they belong. The leg that he was speaking of belonged to some toy horse.

Then Santa said, "You run along, I'll soon fix up whatever's wrong. I've got some extra horse legs stored away somewhere I guess." And then he told the Tinymites, "Of course we have our wrongs and rights, and often times my toyland gets to be a awful mess."

Then, "What is that?" wee Copy said, "I mean that big place just ahead." And Santa answered, "Can't you read the sign above the door? That place is busy every year so I can bring all small girls cheer. It's Santa's monstrous Doll House, and it's where we're heading for."

Household Hints

FORCE AIR OUT
To prevent a depression in the middle of loaf cakes, push the batter up on the sides and leave a hollow in the center when you put the mixture in the oven. Rap the pan on the table a few times to force out any large air bubbles.

LET IT DRY
When not in use, the tea kettle should be emptied and allowed to dry.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Baked winter pears, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, creamed potatoes, whole wheat popovers, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Corn and tomato chowder, prune and nut salad, coconut custard pie, graham bread, milk, coffee.

DINNER—Braised liver with vegetables, parsnip straws with melted butter, pineapple and cheese salad, rice soufflé, rolled oats bread, milk, coffee.

Sometimes I think that if we would serve the homely everyday vegetables with as much care as we do the delicate, succulent ones, these rather unpopular common vegetables would have a better chance. The parsnips suggested in the dinner menu are cut in neat strips of uniform size and carefully cooked in boiling water until they are perfectly tender but not broken.

BRAISED LIVER WITH VEGETABLES

One and one-half pounds beef liver, 3 tiny onions, 2 small potatoes, 1 slice bacon, 2 cups diced celery, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

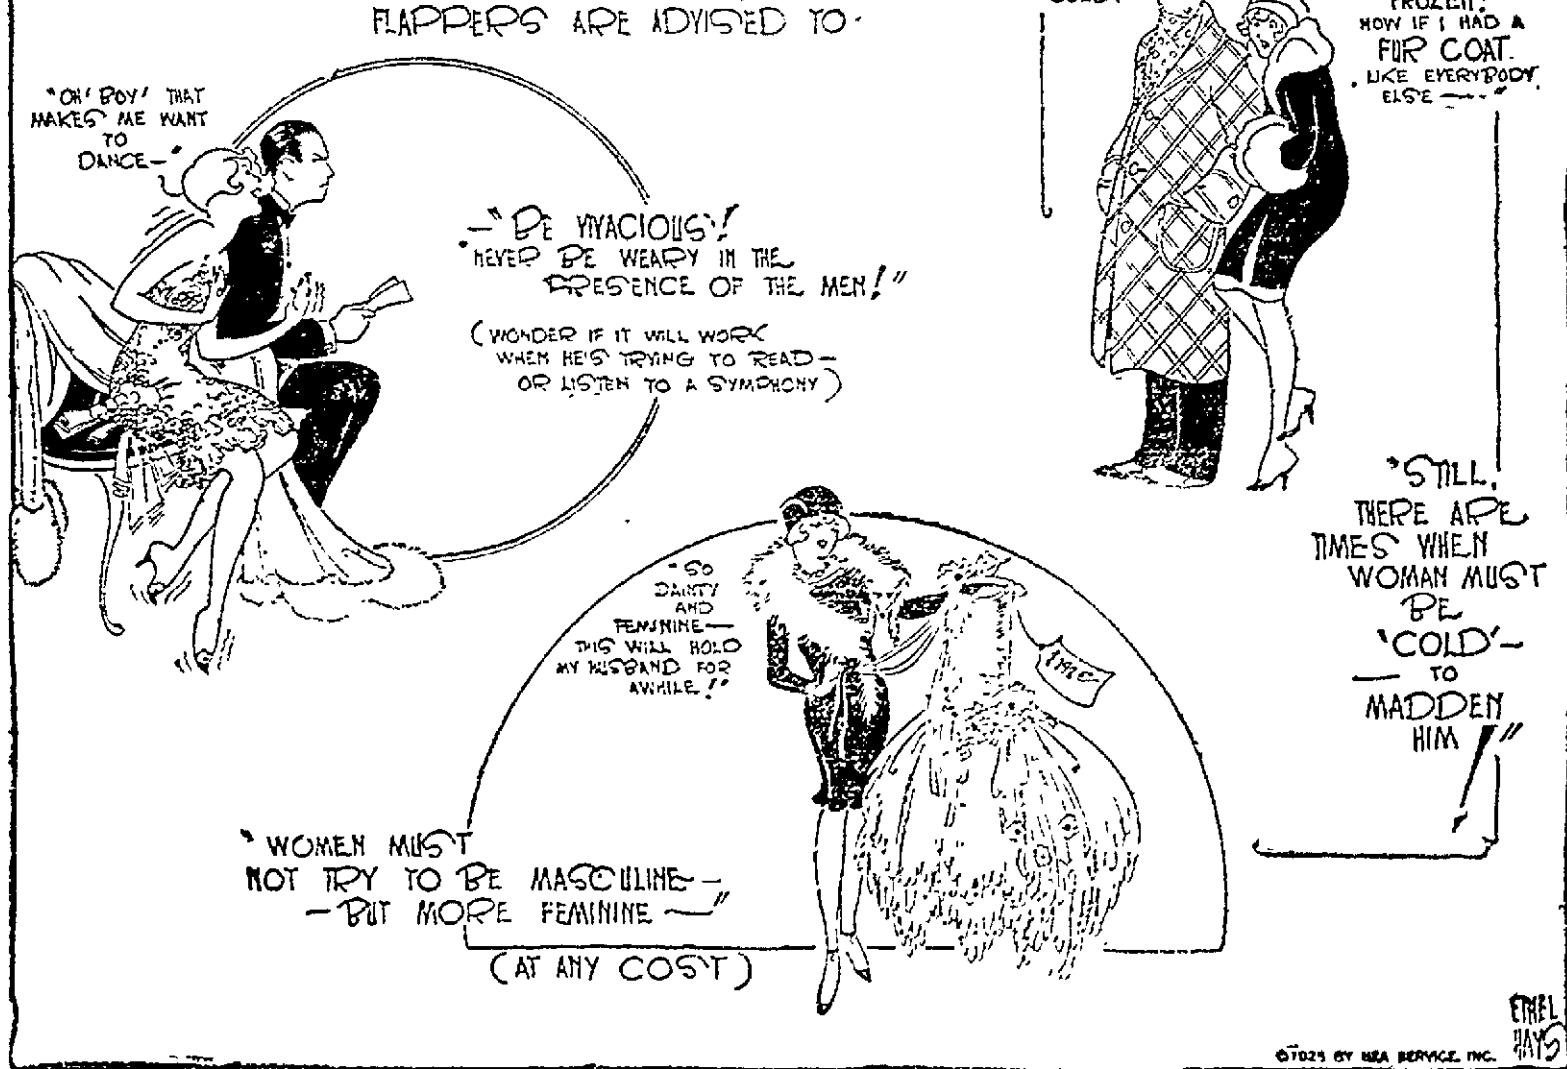

Wash liver and remove any membranes. Pour over boiling water and let stand ten minutes, drain and dredge with flour. Place on rack in roaster or put in a casserole. Put bacon slices over top, cover and cook in a hot oven for 1 hour. Add onions, peeled, potatoes pared, celery and tomatoes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and replace cover. Cook about an hour longer, until potatoes and onions are tender. Serve on a hot platter surrounded with vegetables and pour the gravy in the pan over liver. If the bacon does not brown during baking, remove cover for last ten minutes or put under the flame in gas broiler.

CALUMET COUNTY KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY NEARBY TOWNS

CUBS WIN 2 MORE GAMES, DEFEATING BANKERS, CHUTERS

Kaukauna Y. M. C. A. Continues With Clean Record by Double Win

Kaukauna—The fast traveling Kaukauna Y. M. C. A. Cub team won two games over the weekend and both by large sized margins. Saturday evening they trounced the Citizens' National Bank team of Appleton and Sunday evening they trimmed Little Chute.

The Cubs chalked up their second consecutive win of the season by defeating the strong Citizens' National Bank team in the opening Y. M. C. A. Industrial league game for both teams at Appleton Y. M. C. A. The Electric City team again outplayed its opponents as it did in the Kimberly game Thursday evening. The count at half time was 9 to 3 in Kaukauna's favor. "Doc" Algeo was the individual star for the locals, caging seven baskets and one free throw for fifteen of the 27 points made by the Cubs. Captain Glen Miller also made a good showing, caging one basket and getting four free throws out of four chances. Farwell made two baskets and St. Mitchell one. Algeo was working in well with the rest of the Cubs. This is "Doc's" first year with the team.

H. Vockes of the Banks caged eight of his teams points and was easily the best the Appleton outfit could offer.

The lineup: Kaukauna Cubs H. Vockes, G. Miller, B. B. McKendzie, C. Vockes, J. Farwell, J. Schults for Appleton and Brenzel for Kaukauna. Referee, David Bender.

In the second weekend game they defeated Little Chute American Legion at Little Chute by 20 to 9. The Cubs were helpless at the hands of the hard playing Cubs. Algeo again started in the Saturday contest, getting five baskets and a free throw for 11 of the team's points. Bixel also showed up well. The Kaukauna basket was well guarded by Farwell and St. Mitchell. Vandersteen got four of Little Chute's eight points. Tuesday evening the Cubs face the strong Kimberly Clark mill team on the Appleton Y. M. C. A. floor. The game will be for top place in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league.

MAYOR STRIKES AT SOUTH SIDE FOR NOT CLEANING STREETS

Sullivan Promises Drastic Action Unless Street Department Improves

Kaukauna—Mayor W. C. Sullivan has threatened drastic action with the south side street cleaning department unless better results are shown hereafter in ridding the streets of snow and sanding the walks after severe snow storms.

"Ninety-nine per cent of complaints against the condition of city streets have pointed at the south side streets and if the present crew can not do a job I will get rid of them and get a crew that can," Mayor Sullivan said Sunday in a discussion of the street situation. "Not one complaint do I hear on the north side streets, and two days after the storm all the north side streets were plowed. On the south side it is necessary to walk ankle deep in snow to cross some of the main business streets. Fancy a woman with a baby carriage getting through snow like that. It's impossible. Many of the south side streets haven't been plowed and many walks are slippery. Hereafter the walks are going to be sanded and the roads plowed as quickly on the south side as they are on the north."

The mayor pointed out that there are four people in bed now either with broken bones or torn ligaments resulting from falls on slippery pavements. The question of getting the streets cleaned immediately after the storm was taken up at the last council meeting but it apparently had no effect, he added. In several business streets the snow is still piled up in the middle of the road, nearly a week after the last of the storm.

Progress was shown on the north side only a few hours after the storm had subsided and the mayor promises that conditions will be the same on the south side.

BOOSTER MEETING PLANNED TUESDAY

Reorganization of Moloch Company Will Be Explained to Citizens

Kaukauna—A citizen's booster meeting will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, Dec. 14, in the council room of the municipal administration building to assist the Moloch company to complete its reorganization plan now under way. The meeting has been called by the citizen's committee, of which J. O. Posson is chairman. Other members of the committee are L. E. Vandenberg, Ben Hurkman, John Ditter, Hugo Weitenbach and H. E. Thompson.

The details of the Moloch reorganization and refinancing plan will be explained. To make this plan possible it is necessary for the Moloch company to have subscribed and fully paid for $50,000 worth of preferred stock. This is a seven per cent cumulative, participating, preferred stock. It is a voting stock, is non-callable, and is fully protected as to safety, according to officials of the firm.

At present the company employs between 80 and 85 men with an annual pay roll exceeding $100,000. The net earnings of the company for the past eleven months amounts to approximately $26,000. If the plan is to continue operation the reorganization plan must be completed on or before Dec. 31, 1926.

Friday evening employees of the plant had charge of a booster meeting. Every employee of the plant and many of the business men from the city were present. It was pointed out that every man employed by the plant had bought stock. William Fischer, chairman of the employee committee, was in charge of the meeting.

Directors and officers of the company are: R. M. Kanik, president and

Special to Post-Crescent

Forest Junction—Line extensions of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. of Appleton, in the town of Woodville were completed last week, and current was switched to the latest addition on Wednesday. The extension began on the military road where the line branches to the village of Dundas, cover a distance of approximately four and one-half miles, and approach within two miles of Forest Junction on the west side. Construction of the line was begun early in the fall, the greater part having been completed a month ago. Besides the Loefer farm which is now being supplied, five other farms where wiring operations are still in progress will be supplied with current from this addition. The village of Forest Junction is located in town Brillion a mile from the Woodville boundary and is in the territory of the Wisconsin Public Service corporation, whose line enters from the east.

POSTPONE EXAMS

The county diploma examinations in seventh and eighth grade history, which rural school pupils in this vicinity had planned to attend at Hilbert and Brillion on Saturday, have been indefinitely postponed. Inclement weather was given as the reason for the postponement.

The Rev. C. F. Rabehl of Appleton, presiding elder of the Appleton district of the Wisconsin conference of the Evangelical church, was here on Thursday to preside at a session of the quarterly conference at Emanuel Evangelical church at Maple Grove which is under the jurisdiction of the local pastor. On account of the drifted condition of the roads, there were but seven members of the conference in attendance, and only routine business was disposed of.

Automobile travel was generally suspended in this vicinity on Friday. With a brisk southwest wind blowing during the night, roads, which were fairly passable on Thursday, were badly drifted on Friday morning. Though a few motorists ventured out, they were obliged to return. The rural carrier from the postoffice covered his route with horse and cutter for the first time this season.

RADIO ARTISTS APPEARING WITH SUNSHINE REVUE

One of the features of the Sunshine Revue appearing at the Fischers Appleton theater starting today, is the six musical kings. This well known organization you have no doubt heard over the radio, while they were appearing in Chicago and also on Victor records.

They play any number requested by the audience and for a real novelty are second to none.

In addition to the six musical kings there is a large company of well known artists, as well as a big beauty chorus, in the Sunshine Revue, which will be the biggest popular priced event of the season.

The feature photoplay shown in conjunction tonight and Tuesday will be "The Great Gatsby" with a large cast headed by Warner Baxter, Lars Wilson and Neil Hamilton. On Wednesday and Thursday with a complete program change by the Sunshine Revue will be shown Universal's hit "Oh Baby" with the dwarf of "The Unholy Three" in the title role assisted by Madge Kennedy and Crighton Hale.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT IN FIRE-FIGHTING PICTURES

The character of the story of "The False Alarm," the Columbia melodrama at the New Bijou today and Tuesday, lends itself especially to the family group, because it contains all the elements of human misery, and domestic felicity properly exploited. In addition to the sensationalism and thrill beloved of movie fans everywhere. The fire scenes in this picture are exceptionally well done and realistic. In assembling them, care has been taken to sustain a continuous thread of suspense, and there is also great sincerity apparent in the work of the players. Mary Carr and Ralph Lewis make a great team, expressing parental devotion, and the difference in feminine and masculine reaction to apparent cowardice in one of their offspring, in a satisfactory and intelligent manner.

The director, Frank O'Connor, has acquitted himself well, with the result that a story, which, interesting in itself, might have been converted into an ordinary melodrama but for the fine conception of the author's intention, becomes a thrilling, live production, that can be enjoyed from start to finish by all classes.

The cast includes Ralph Lewis, Mary Carr and Dorothy Revier as featured members, and gains excellent support from John Harron, George O'Hara, Priscilla Bonner, Maurice Costello, William Franey.

The picture treats of how a youth, dismissed from the fire department and from his home for apparent cowardice, finds himself and establishes his right to be called a hero.

That "Trusted" Employee

It's usually the "trusted" employee who steals. The reason is obvious. By virtue of the confidence reposed in him he is usually in a position where he can easily dip into his employer's funds, should he be so disposed.

Probably nine out of ten employees are honest. But the other one is most expensively wrong.

Why risk having one of the latter variety in your employ when, for a small sum, you can obtain Fidelity Bonds which will guarantee the honesty of any or all of your employees?

SATURDAY GAMES

Kaukauna "A" 2, Citizens Bank 13.

Appleton cage squads, which have topped the Y. M. C. A. Industrial loop banner every year but one since the league was organized, will have plenty of trouble holding off the outside foe this year, if Saturday evening's games are any indication. Fox River Paper, Kimberly and Kaukauna invaded the local gymnasium and walked off with one-sided wins from Appleton squads showing a drive and shooting ability that could not be denied.

In the first game of the evening the Kaukauna Y. M. C. A. squad, led by the classy shooting of Algeo, formed a quiet University forward, walloped the Citizens Bank team of Appleton, runner up in the district meet last year, by a 27-13 count. The Bankers seemed demoralized by the absence of their best shot, Al Cookson, star Orange forward of 1926, who left the city recently after starting the season with the squad.

However, the teamplay and shooting of the Kaw squad earned them on easy win and classed them as one of the leading contenders in the loop. Algeo was the star of the fray, showing a shifty floor game and dropping seven net ringers and a pair of free tries for 15 of his teams points. Miller played a good floor game and St. Mitchell and Farwell starred on defense. For the bankers, W. Voecks, shot four ringers for 8 of his squads 13 points.

In the second game, the inexperienced Co. D squad, with some of its players in suits for the first time in five years, proved a match for the strong Kimberly-Clark crew of Kimberly. The Guardsmen were added to the loop as the eighth team in the last few days and were unprepared for a strong squad.

Van Ryzin, playing a little more than a half, was easily the star of the game. The K-C guard dropped eight ringers from all parts of the floor, starting under the baskets and working back to center shots, for half of his team's points. In fact he missed but three tries during the fray. Muenster showed up the best for the losers.

Results of the games show that the loop banner will be a fight between the four winners of last week, the Kaukauna, K-C team, Fox River and Galpin Hardware. The Kaws and the Galpins, if Frazier and Zussman return to the lineup seem to have a slight edge over the other two squads though the heavy Fox River machine, a slow starter but strong in the final minutes and the K-C crew will upset either of these squads at times. With Van Ryzin shooting as he did Saturday night the K-C crew will be a hard team to beat. Any games between any pair of the four leading squads is sure to be worth traveling far to see for closeness and good play. Even the four underdogs, especially the Coated, Riversides and Bankers, are liable to upset the leaders on good nights.

HUGGINS CHOOSES YANKEES TO TAKE FLAG NEXT SEASON

New York Manager Says Squad Will Win With Stronger Catching Crew

New York—Miller Huggins, just prior to his departure for the south, was asked as to the chances of the Yankees to repeat in the American League.

Being manager of the Yanks, it was thought that he should be in a better position than any one else to comment on the strength and weakness of his club.

"Sure we have a chance, a mighty good one, provided I am able to strengthen our front here and there. My greatest worry is the catching department," he said.

It is apparent that Huggins is wise to one of the glaring weaknesses of the Yankees. It is doubtful if any club ever won a major league pennant with a poorer bunch of catchers.

Pat Collins, despite the fact that he went great for a couple of months, is just a good minor league catcher. Hank Severid is a veteran who is about as much as Banny Bengough, the class of the staff, suffered all year from a bad arm.

Near the close of the season, in a game at Cleveland, he had several bones broken in the ailing arm when hit by a pitched ball. This makes him a more doubtful quantity than ever. Huggins certainly needs catchers.

GARROLL TAKES CLOSE ONE FROM NORMALITES

Waukesha—Carroll college won its first basketball game of the season Saturday night by defeating Flatville Normal in a thrilling contest, 26 to 21. The score at the half was 10 to 10 and the game was so close that it was tied five different times.

Stacey for Carroll and Tilley and Hatch for the Teachers played star games.

M'GRAW 1ST BALL PLAYER HOLDOUT

Demanding $3 Raise in Pay and "Buggy Ride" Before Hurling Game

New York—John J. McGraw has confessed he was the first holdout in baseball history.

"I pitched a game for East Homer one Sunday back in 1889," says John. "I had to walk all the way from Ocean to East Homer and back. They gave me $2 for winning a good game of ball. I wish one of my pitchers today would put as much into a game as I put in that one. And with all the walking I did not get home until after dark."

"Well, the next week they came after me again but I was a holdout. I said my price was no $2 ball. I said I was tired of walking so far to pitch for so little. I demanded $5 and a carriage ride. They beated about it for a while. In the end I got it. We won that game, too."

FOUR DIAMOND STARS STRONG FOR GOLFING

While many American League managers are averse to the playing of golf, it is a matter of record that four of the greatest stars ever produced by the American League are confirmed golfers.

By Cobb and Tris Speaker, who have just retired after a score of years in big league service, mixed a certain amount of golf with baseball as a tonic. It proved a mighty good one.

Two other famous performers, Eddie Collins and Babe Ruth, are strong for golf. Both play it during the season but never permit it to interfere with their baseball.

WESTERN AMATEUR MEET TO BE HELD ON COAST
Chicago—(AP)—For the second time in history a major golf tournament will be held on the Pacific coast, the 1927 Western Amateur title meet having been awarded to the Seattle Golf club by the Eastern Golf association.

The Western Open meet goes to the Olympia Fields country club of Chicago. The Western Amateur will be played the week of July 18, while the National Amateur will take place at the Minnikahda club, Minneapolis, Aug. 2, placing the two major simon-pure golf events west of the Mississippi river in 1927.

Commy Should Be Called Old Showman, Team Says

New York—The baseball world knows Charles A. Comiskey, the owner of the Chicago White Sox as the "Old Roman." The kindly imagination of some friendly scribbler coined the name of the "Old Roman," and it has stuck, though without significance.

Ball players who have toiled under Mr. Comiskey insist that the proper title for the gentleman in question would be the "Old Showman."

According to the athletes, Mr. Comiskey will willingly spend 10 dollars any time there is a possibility of getting 100 in return.

There may be some sentiment in baseball but not in Mr. Comiskey. Eddie Collins, one of the greatest players that ever wore a spiked shoe, is the latest White Sox star to pay the penalty of old age and true loyalty.

Collins, who has already proved his ability as a manager, in days when real leaders are scarce, gets the game at a time when it seems there is little or no chance for him to land another managerial berth.

Collins, who has made several hundred thousand simoleans for Comiskey, is out loose because it doesn't

DEPERE CAGE CREW WHIPS CHUTE TEAM

Veteran Team Wins at Home, 22-8; Skenadore Drops Five Ringers

Little Chute—Little Chute high school cage team failed to show the form which had carried it through to two straight wins, Friday evening when it encountered West DePerere high at DePerere and as a result was swamped by the DePerere men by a score of 22-8. It was the first loss of the year for the Chutemen. The losers were out-weighted and were outplayed throughout. The half ended 12-5 for DePerere.

The next game for Little Chute will be with Bear Creek at Little Chute. The home crew is favored to win, having beaten the Creek squad at Bear Creek in the opener.

TWO RIVERS PUSHES LOOSEMEN FROM LEAD
Two Rivers—Two Rivers American Legion kept its slate clean in the Wisconsin State Basketball league by defeating the strong Kohler team by a score of 38 to 24 in a hard-fought game here Friday night. Lew Hendrickson took high scoring honors, caging six field goals while Chuck Wetmore contributed 12 points to the Two Rivers' total. The Kohler team put up a fine exhibition of passing, but were weak in their shooting. Numerous fouls were called during the contests.

CREPE HANGERS
Honolulu—Hawaii is the largest market in the world for a certain type of crepe paper, according to a representative of a large eastern concern who recently visited the islands. The particular variety is used by natives for the manufacture of leis (colored wreaths) which are placed about the shoulders of visitors when arriving or departing.

LADY GOLFERS TO ELECT LINKS HEAD
New York—Future committees of the women's section of the United States Golf Association will be elected by district organizations scattered throughout the country instead of appointed by the U. S. G. A. as they have been in the past.

The eastern and western sections will elect two delegates and the women's metropolitan, Boston, Philadelphia, Southern and California, bodies will have one representative apiece. This move will break up eastern control of women's golf.

The Japanese have air mail service between Tokyo and Tukuoka, about the same distance as between New York and Chicago.

Ed Walsh can remain with the White Sox just as long as he cares to stay in baseball. It is a remark that has been credited to the White Sox owner, when Ed was pitching about 60 games a year and winning pennants for Chicago.

Walsh hasn't been with Chicago for years. He even took a whirl at umpiring in an effort to stick in the big show. He became excess baggage when he could no longer win ball games.

When Fielder Jones, as manager of the White Sox, at the top of his career, demanded a piece of stock if he was to continue, the nothing doing sign was hung out and Jones responded by retiring from baseball.

Now comes the Eddie Collins incident. Sentiment in baseball? Sure! Just so long as you deliver the goods in large packages

HARRY COOPER TAKES WINTER GOLF TOURNEY

Delmonte, Calif.—(AP)—A little man with a mighty set of clubs carried the title of Monterey Peninsula open golf champion and an additional $1,300 in his pockets Monday.

He is Harry Cooper, of Los Angeles, who came out of Texas virtually unknown a year ago to capture the $10,000 Los Angeles Open tournament. Sunday he added to his honors by clubbing a title from the green fairways of Pebble Beach against one of the greatest fields ever assembled outside the national open championship a total of $5,000 was given in prizes.

Cooper's score for the 72 holes was 233, two strokes better than his nearest rival, Larry Nabholz, of Cleveland. Cooper's scores for the 72 holes were: 75, 70, 72, 76—233.

Cooper went into the final 18 holes tied with Johnny Farrell, of New York but the blazing pace was too much for the latter. The easterner went to pieces, putting three balls into the ocean on the last four holes. The six-stroke loss killed his chances, giving him a 73, a total of 236, to tie with William (Wild Bill) Mehlforn, of Chicago for third place.

NEA SERVICE INC. Virginia Swain

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE JUDITH MARTIN, red-haired rebel among faculty members of Pendleton University, is hated by DEAN TIMOTHY BROWN of the discipline committee.

ERIC WATERS, senior, and DR. PETER DORN, of the astronomy department, are rivals for Judith's favor.

MYRA ADRICH, Eric's boyhood sweetheart, is jealous of Judith.

Judith stumbles on a secret love affair of Dean Brown's wife, and befriends her. When "KITTY" SHEA, town bootlegger, tries to blackmail Mrs. Brown, Judith appeals to Eric for protection.

When Shea's body is found under his car in a creek, and a letter addressed to Eric is discovered in his pocket, Eric is arrested as a material witness.

Professor Dorn offers his consolation to Judith, but they quarrel over her friendship for Eric.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVII

"Christ versus Apollon," said the large red letters of the placard tacked to the bulletin board in the sunken garden near administration hall.

There was, below a picture of a very earnest man in a Windsor tie, with bland, dark eyes in a round, smooth-shaven face. "Reverend Forrest Poole, champion of the right, a thinking Christian, will address the great mass meeting of the university student body on the night of February first, in the main auditorium. The attendance of every university student is expected."

In the lower right hand corner was the signature, "Timothy M. Brown, dean of the college of liberal arts."

Around this placard, there was a changing group. Shortly after breakfast, on the day after the Shea inquest, Judith saw it surrounded with big-eyed freshmen. Returning from a class at noon, she found its admirers mostly rankish seniors, sneering more or less openly at the Reverend Forrest Poole.

The university co-operative store had a more resplendent placard. A rainbow in natural tints spread across the top of the card, and beneath it, there was the legend:

"From the mists of doubt and the tempests of confusion, there shall arise the rainbow of faith."

"Hear Dr. Forrest Poole's scathing denunciation of pseudo-intellectual agnostics, and his clarion call to the standard of true religion. At the auditorium, 8:30 p. m., February 1."

Here the varicolored rainbow had crowded the Reverend Poole out of the picture, bland eyes, Windsor tie and all.

Miss Reasey the elder came out of the book store as Judith was reading the sign. She was carrying a new Oxford note book and a roll of blotting paper.

"Oh, Miss Martin," she called. Judith saw no escape.

"Hello," she listened.

Miss Reasey hurried up to her. "What have you heard about the Shea case?"

Judith frowned. "Nothing at all," she said, preparing to leave.

"Oh, don't rush away," exclaimed Miss Reasey. "The young journalist was telling me just now that everything closed up last night, tight as a bandbox. No information on any angle of it, even for the newspapers. What do you make of that?"

"I make nothing. I'm not an authority on the Shea case," said Judith, somewhat caustically, and walked away from her.

The Prairie Schooner also bore its banner:

"Help put Pendleton University on the map. Show the world what alma mater can do for the cause of right thinking and right living."

"Tally with the rest of your school against the powers of darkness that are creeping into university life."

"Make Pendleton clean."

Eve Gerhart was just coming out of the Schooner. She was wearing a gay suit of black and white flannel and a little white hat that struck a brave note against the wintry dullness of the landscape.

"Judith," she called, "come for a stroll with me, won't you?"

With obvious reluctance, Judith complied.

Eve laughed. "Oh, don't be afraid. I'm not going to say, 'I told you so.' I just want to chat."

They fell into step. "The old lion is on the loose again, I see," remarked Eve, glancing at another of the dean's posters. "Hot times coming, or my mistake."

"Yes," said Judith. "He's tasted blood."

"What have you heard of Eric?" asked Eve quietly.

Judith shrugged. "Nothing. I never felt so helpless in my life."

Eve pursed her reddened lips in thought. Queer. That tragic little woman, Prudence Brown, ran up to me in the Tavern today and almost begged me to tell her something to do for him. Haven't the slightest idea why she came to me."

"Oh," said Judith, genially. "I have. Eric is known as one of your tame cats."

Eve's laugh was unperturbed. "That's fine. He's a pretty nice kind of pet to be credited with."

"I'm afraid people won't think so, from now on," said Judith gloomily.

Eve studied an evergreen tree ahead of them. "Well I don't know. The pub-forgets very quickly. If he pulls through this, I should say he wasn't irreparably damaged."

Judith did not answer.

A familiar pair of riding boots on the path ahead of them drew Eve's attention, and she gave a little bird-note whistle that Judith had never heard before.

Will Wetherel turned around and came toward them. He stepped between the two women, taking an arm of each. "Things are looking up, Eric-worshippers," he said.

Judith lifted her head eagerly. "Ask me quickly," teased Will. "I shall burst."

Eve was grave. "What it is, Will? Don't clown just now."

"We've got the other side fightin'. A rift in the lute. The dean called on the chief of police this morning, and demanded a statement about the inquest. The chief told him it was none of his damn business."

"He also told Timothy that he could run his little college and the chief would run the police department. Practically accused Timothy of grand-standing in this Shea murder—trying to get the credit for pushing it, and so forth. Told the dean to stay out from now on, and when he wanted him, he'd call him."

Eve laughed raucously. "Marvelous! That's what Timothy's been needing. But can the chief stick to it?"

"Well," said Will, "the police chief hasn't any reason to kowtow to Timothy Brown. He is free to let his conscience be his guide."

Judith looked at still another Forrest Poole poster on a tree. "That means all the more venom for this great clean-up," she said. "Foiled of one victim, Dean Brown will go after others."

"I hope he won't go after you the very first one," said Eve. "Because of course he'll get you in the end. If you want to be a bohemian, you've chosen the wrong profession."

Wetherel turned to Judith. "I've learned something more that will interest you, he said smugly."

"Well?" Judith's eyes implored him. "Your other admirer has been put in charge of the Sunday school revival."

Eve looked up, laughing. "Dr. Dorn?"

Wetherel nodded. "Dean Brown gave him all the direct administrative work to do, while the dean flits around with the legislators."

Eve clapped her hands. "What fun! You'll be the center of a tug-of-war, Judith."

Wetherel went on, between puffs at his pipe. "I hear Brown told Dorn he'd make him head of the physical science department, if the thing goes over. The test of that will be the reaction of the legislature. Pendleton needs a big appropriation."

"If they impress the boys that come over from the state capital to witness the meeting, zowie!—up goes the appropriation, and up goes Dean Brown's stock, with the president and the curators."

"And on the coat tails of Dean Brown, up goes Dr. Peter Dorn," said Judith bitterly.

"You said it," remarked Will. "They say the dean has ordered his wife to head the legions of the W. C. T. U., and they will stand at every entrance the night of the mass meeting, ready to pin the white ribbon of purity on the blue serge or gray flannel lapel of each faithful soul that enters the hall."

Eve laughed delightedly. "I shall be there with my white ribbon," she said. "That'll give the dean apoplexy."

"Did Mrs. Brown agree to all this?" asked Judith thoughtfully.

Wetherel raised his eyebrows. "My dear young woman that is one of the things I don't hear."

Judith turned down College road. Eve fluttered a green handkerchief after her.

It was almost noon, and Judith overtook many boys and girls on their way home to lunch.

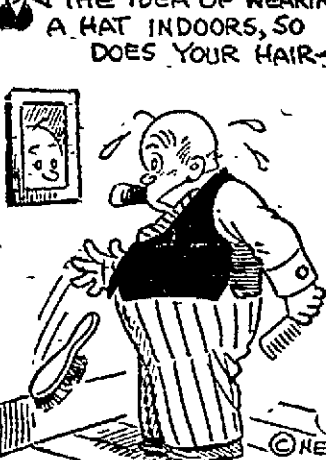

Walking with her head down, she did not realize that there was someone sitting on the step until she turned into the Stedway sidewalk.

"Eric!" she cried.

He was whistling. "Look," he said,

WEISGERBER SUCCEEDS AS SAN MATEO MANAGER

Oscar F. Weisgerber, formerly city engineer here, apparently is proving to citizens of San Mateo Calif., where he is city manager, that they did not make a mistake when they adopted the managerial form of government and when they appointed him as manager. The tax rate of San Mateo has decreased steadily from 16.30 in 1924-25 to $4.42 in 1926-27 in spite of large improvements in the city.

San Mateo is one of the most rapidly growing cities in California.

That Mr. Weisgerber's efforts are being appreciated is indicated by the fact that his salary was increased from $4,000 in 1925 to $5,000 in 1927 and he will receive $5,000 next year.

U. S. FINDS NEW WAY TO SAVE MONEY IN MAKING MONEY

Chromium Coated Printing Plates Developed by Bureau of Standards

Uncle Sam is making it harder for counterfeiters to copy his valuable product.

He's doing this by the use of the hardest of metals, chromium, on the plates that stamp out and print the paper money of this country. He has found that the prints are sharper and more accurate than ever, and that he can produce more impressions from each plate than he did without the use of this metal.

For this economy the United States is thankful to its own Bureau of Standards, which developed an electroplating system by which a thin coat of chromium could be implanted permanently on the face of a steel die.

H. E. Haring, of the electrochemical section of this bureau, is mainly responsible for this achievement.

ABUNDANT Chromium is in the same class of hard metals with molybdenum, tungsten, and uranium, but is hardest of all these. Fortunately, it is found in great abundance in the earth, but because of cheap labor it is being imported at present from Rhodesia.

The hardest plate formerly used in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing was made of case-hardened steel.

Attempts were made to harden the face of these plates with nickel and copper, to no avail. Chromium solved the problem.

By placing a layer of chromium, only two ten-thousandths of an inch thick, on the nickel surface of an electrolytic plate, the life of each plate is greatly increased, fewer plates are needed, and there are fewer differences in bills and bonds.

Use of fewer plates brings a double economy in money making.

DOUBLE ECONOMY Chromium has been found of great use in other industries because of its hardness. It is suitable for the manufacture of printing plates, dies, gauges, cams and gears. It has a high luster and resists rust, and therefore has come into use as plating, usually over a nickel coat, on automobile radiator shells, bumper bars, plumbing fixtures and other objects.

Chromium steel and other forms of chromium alloys are being made for harder and more durable forms of material.

The U. S. Bureau of Standards is continuing its researches on chromium plating and other uses for this metal, looking forward to a time when it will be as common as iron and copper.

The New (Constant Viscosity) Motor Oil

Developed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to solve the problem of dilution of motor oil in the crank case. And it does it. In the past all motor oils have been compromises. Satisfactory in varying degrees—yes—but still compromises. That's news!

Trouble in cold weather—trouble starting—trouble after a few hundred miles of motoring—always a little trouble somewhere! In the past, motor oils have had to compromise in order to meet two contradictory demands. They have had to be light to enable the engine to turn over easily in starting—they have had to be heavy to maintain a safe viscosity after a few hundred miles of motoring. They have met neither demand perfectly. Startling! But true.

Hundreds of tests have shown that ordinary oil becomes diluted, losing two-thirds of its viscosity in the first 150 to 180 miles of travel. Amazing? Yes—but read on. After that viscosity remains fairly constant. An oil light enough for easy starting and cold weather lubrication, becomes too thin for safety before the car has gone a hundred miles. A surprise to you, no doubt.

The First Motor Oil That is Not a Compromise

It has been developed in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to meet the new theory of scientific lubrication. It is light enough to insure easy turn over of the engine in starting even in cold weather, and heavy enough to maintain a proper lubricating film over all bearing surfaces. It gives perfect cold weather lubrication and does not wear out. What does this mean to you? It means that Iso-Vis maintains a viscosity within "the zone of correct lubrication."

Hundreds of tests have proved that an oil, to be within "the zone of correct lubrication", must have viscosity of from 200 to 150 Saybolt at 100° F.

Iso-Vis is right to start with—right for cold weather—still right after a thousand miles of motoring.

It has been scientifically developed to meet a new theory of scientific lubrication. It makes no compromise. In cost Iso-Vis is a little higher than ordinary oil—in satisfaction there is no comparison. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud to offer Iso-Vis to its millions of motoring friends in the Middle West. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) recommends Iso-Vis for use in your car. Iso-Vis "F" for Fords.

DePere Farmer Feels So Happy He Could Dance a Jig

Tells how Dreco relieved his suffering after twenty years of stomach and liver trouble.

"During the past twenty years I've spent enough money on treatments to buy two large farms but until I started taking Dreco my condition was gradually growing worse instead of better," is the grateful statement made to the Dreco man by Mr. H. L. Chamberlain, a prominent DePere, Wis.

"My stomach was in such bad condition that gas formed after every meal sending sharp, knife-like pains thru my stomach and up around my heart. Often I had such a burning sensation in my stomach it felt like I had eaten a lot of molten lead. Cramps almost doubled me in two and my bowels were so clogged with waste-matter I've taken as high as four cathartics a day without relief. My liver was also sluggish, which brought on dizzy spells, a coated tongue and made my breath offensive.

"My only regret since taking Dreco it has completely overcome everyone is that I didn't learn of it sooner for of these troubles and I can now go out on the farm and work as well as any of my help. I sleep, eat and feel more like twenty-nine than fifty-nine and could go out and dance a jig from sheer happiness since Dreco helped me so. I can sincerely recommend it to everyone."

After taking Dreco it is noticed that the bowels begin to move freely and easily, the kidneys become regular and the lazy liver takes on new life. The stomach assimilates the food without producing gas and the whole system feels rejuvenated. Dreco is a great builder and blood purifier.

Mr. H. W. C. Marr Baker, the well-known Expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schlitz Bros. Downtown Drug Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him.

THE WITCH
(A Bachelor Ballad)
By Bruce L. Conroy
You strung me along, and you gave me a mark On my soul that, no doubt, will out-live you; And when you were tired you cast me aside— All right, I forgive you.

But if there's one thing that I will not forgive As long as the stars shine above, it is simply the fact that you talked baby talk— And made me love it:

She Was Stuck
Mrs. Simmons came home after a long day of Christmas shopping. She threw herself onto the sofa and began weeping. "Why are you crying my dear?" asked Simmons, consolingly. "The sales girl in that big department store insulted me." "How?" "Why, after I looked at about two dozen articles and told her I guess I wouldn't take anything, she impudently told me to come around and look under the counter—that I might find something there to suit me." "The cat! Did she say that to you my dear? I'll go right over there and make her take back those words." "It's no use, my dear," sobbed Mrs. Simmons, "it's a rule of the store not to take anything back until after the holidays."

—Sarah Wilcox.

WAUPACA BEATS MARION
Waupaca—Waupaca High maintained its lead in the Central Wisconsin H. S. Basketball conference here Friday night by defeating the Marion High School quintet to the tune of 16 to 12. The teams were evenly matched both playing a close guard half, their three points being gained via the free throw route. It was not until the final quarter that the locals began to find the basket and made the count. There were no individual stars as to playing ability and the defensive and fast passing work of both teams featured the game. The win places the local squad at the head of the conference, and they will no doubt, give plenty of opposition to the teams remaining in the schedule.

Couch Pautz will put his squad through some stiff practice sessions in preparation for the game at Manawa Saturday night, when the locals will play their third conference game. Though indications point to a Waupaca victory the locals are not over-confident, and they will have to exhibit real basketball to win, as Manawa boasts a fast team. A large number of Waupaca fans will make the trip, if traveling conditions permit.

Mrs. Irving Hanson entertained the ladies of the Monday Night Sewing club and their husbands at a 6:30 dinner at the Inn in honor of Mrs. G. E. Watson's birthday. CLINTONVILLE FIVE
BEATS SHAWANO IN CLOSE GAME, 9 TO 8

Quinn's Squad Wins First Victory in Four Years Over Old Rivals

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville—The Clintonville high school basketball five defeated the Shawano team on the local gymnasium floor Friday evening for the first time in four years. The game was one of the fastest ever witnessed here. The score was 9 to 8. Neither team can boast of extremely clean playing. The score indicates the closeness of the game. It stood 2 to 1 in favor of Shawano at the quarter, and at the half the same. Both teams scored in the third quarter but the visitors had the lead by 7 to 6. At one time during the last quarter Clintonville had the Shawano crew tied, but Captain Schumacher of the visitors placed them in the lead again on a free shot. In the last tense moments when the score was 8 to 7 in the visitors' favor, Walter Martin, dashing forward on the winning squad, ran under the basket and caked a field goal.

Capt. Walter Kruse and Walter Martin made all of the scores for the winners, Kruse making two field goals and a free shot and Martin making a field goal and two free shots. Capt. Schumacher starred in floor work and scoring for Shawano, making one field goal and four three throws. Coach Quinn will take his team to Shawano next Friday evening to play a return game there. The lineup was as follows:

A fast preliminary was played before the main game by two pick-up teams from the high school. Glen Dilley veteran returned once more to the floor and played a great game, forming a good forward combination with Zicks, an experienced man also. Marvin Bahr, center, was the only scorer for the white jersey team. The orange jerseys scored one field goal and two free shots, but Bahr, center, tied the score. A 4-4 tie existed at the whistle. KEEP NAVY AT TO STRENGTH, WILBUR'S PLEA

Limited Funds Responsible for Undersized Personnel to Man Ships

Washington, (AP)—A plea for a loosening of the government's purse strings so that the navy may maintain the full strength provided by law, was made by Secretary Wilbur Saturday in his annual report to President Coolidge.

The question of officer personnel has developed into a dilemma, the secretary said, and with limited funds at hand it had been necessary to concentrate on repairs rather than on alterations required to keep first line ships up to essential military standards for fleet service.

In 1925 Mr. Wilbur said, the navy had been operating with an undersized personnel of 5,100 line officers being on the rolls when the report was compiled. The authorized strength is 5,490. Lack of funds also made impossible the maintenance of the "required" $6,000 enlisted strength, the average for the year being nearly 4,000 under that figure.

SERIOUS QUESTION
The secretary gave it as his view that reduction of the naval academy enrollment had brought the navy to face a serious question as to how it could function with an insufficient number of officers. He urged that personnel to maintain the strength of the line of the navy on a proper basis, the report said "even if no appointments are made to the various staff corps from graduates of the naval academy."

MEASURE OF ECONOMY
Destroyer Squadron No. 2 was mentioned as one in which improvements had been deferred because of the cost. Economy was also exercised by striking from the list small craft and wooden vessels acquired in 1915 and 1919 which "require extensive repairs."

Except for the fact that the proper enlisted strength could not be afforded "the enlisted personnel situation during the year has been uniformly excellent," with three out of every four men whose enlistments expired re-enlisting or extended their enlistments, the report continued. The shortage of man-power in the fleet was mitigated somewhat by delay in the completion of the aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington. On their completion these two vessels will require a complement aggregating more than 3,000 men.

Since funds have not yet been appropriated, the report said work on the navy's projected new airships of 6,000,000 cubic feet has been suspended. Some concern was noted among air officials in this connection because the supply of helium obtained from the Fort Worth, Texas, plant has been dwindling.

ARSENAL DISASTER
The secretary made brief mention of the disaster to the arsenal at Lake Denmark, N. Y., asserting that the cause of the disaster was due to carelessness and that consequently accidents occur no matter how diligent the efforts to avoid them. Recommendations would be made to congress, he said, covering plans to guard against such occurrences as the Denmark explosion.

Illustrating the variety and scope of the navy's work in recent times, Secretary Wilbur pointed to the activities of warships in protecting life in Central America and elsewhere, and of the navy's part in aiding in the relief of Florida hurricane sufferers, and in doing a hundred other jobs, important in themselves, but which do not grip the popular imagination.

MANY AIRMEN REJECTED
As to aviation, the report said a study of requirements of aviation material had shown the percentage of rejections, due to the more physical standards coupled with those due to eliminations during flight training, remained high, at about 70 per cent. The question of flight eliminations was investigated and it was decided that they should be reduced by more careful preliminary selections of student material.

A notable improvement in anti-aircraft gunnery was recorded, and it was pointed out that operation of air craft units for the fleet had reached a still higher rate of efficiency. Powder-propelled catapults are being installed on battleships for launching observation and scouting planes, and an amphibian plane has been successfully launched from catapults.

General health in the navy was reported to be excellent, with the daily average of personnel on the sick list less than three.

The general need of additional funds extended even to the navy yards where depreciation equipment could not be replaced because of budget restrictions, Secretary Wilbur said.

MACHINIST SUES ROAD FOR LOSS OF TOOLS
Suit of Jacob L. Power, Appleton, a machinist, against the C. and N. W. railroad, for alleged damages of $300 for loss of tools was started before Judge Theodore Berg and a jury in the higher branch of municipal court Monday morning.

According to Mr. Power, nearly two years ago he checked a case company's tools with the railroad company's transportation from Kenosha to Appleton. When he claimed his property, Mr. Power alleges, the case had been tampered with and tools to the value of $300 stolen.

The present purchase price of the same instruments, it was declared, would be $200. It was expected the case would be concluded late Monday or early Tuesday.

DENSE FOG ON SUNDAY NIGHT SLOWS TRAFFIC

With streets wet and slippery and the city blanketed by a dense fog late Sunday night, several minor accidents were reported but none was injured, according to a survey made by authorities Monday morning.

By 10 o'clock Sunday night the fog was so dense that those machines still on the streets were virtually "feeling" their way along.

Several weekend guests in Appleton from adjacent cities postponed their return trips until morning when the weather showed such a decided change from a light rain to mist and fog.

Country roads are virtually impassable for motor driven vehicles and main highways are in such condition as to make travel over them disagreeable, if not actually dangerous in sections, reports the survey.

State trunk highway 15 from Appleton to Kaukauna is in good condition but from there to Green Bay it is unpleasant traveling in many spots.

From Appleton south, highway 15 is reported to be "fairly" good.

MOTORIST STRIKES FARMER AND FLEES

Pedestrian Obligated to Crawl Quarter of Mile Before Reaching Aid

Struck perhaps by a hit and run driver or possibly by a motorist unaware that he had hit a man, William Vetter, a middle-aged farmer living near Weyauwega on the New London-Weyauwega road, Saturday night was severely bruised and forced to crawl on his hands and knees nearly a quarter of a mile before reaching assistance, it was reported Monday.

According to a manager story available, Mr. Vetter had left his home at dusk Saturday night to journey a mile to the village. When more than half-way an automobile swerved from the road to pass him and skidded in such a manner that the rear end of the machine struck Mr. Vetter. He was knocked unconscious, the story goes, and upon regaining his senses started to crawl to his destination.

Mr. Vetter claims, according to a correspondent, that the machine did not slow down nor stop to see whether or not he had been injured. No trace was found Sunday or Monday of any motorist who would admit that they had figured in such an accident, authorities stated.

CALL AGRICULTURE MOST COMPETITIVE BUSINESS IN WORLD

Every Farmer in Country Competes With Six Million Other Farmers

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—Agriculture, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics emphasized in its annual report made public Monday is the most highly competitive business in the world. Every farmer in this country competes with more than six million other farmers. In addition he competes with the farmers of foreign countries.

Some of the more difficult problems confronting the industry have grown out of the specialization and commercialization of farming, the report said. As agriculture has spread over the nation and as specialized forms of farming have developed in regions especially adapted to them, the distance between producer and consumer has greatly increased, the report says. This widening gulf between producer and consumer has made it more difficult for the farmer to appraise the needs of consumers and has materially increased the cost of distribution.

The Bureau is trying to work out a system that will be of inestimable value to the farmer if it proves successful. Whether or not they have hit on the magic words "open sesame" remains to be seen. At present the Bureau is rendering several types of service for the benefit of those who are engaged in or interested in agriculture. One of its most important services is planning their production and marketing programs. The estimates of domestic crop production have been made for many decades and have been developed to a relatively high degree of perfection. These statistics on production recently have been supplemented with detailed statistics on production on foreign countries which are compiled in cooperation with other departments of the Government, as well as in cooperation with governmental agencies abroad.

In addition to this statistical service on crop and livestock production, a comparison market news service has been spread over the entire country, providing timely information on supplies on hand, prices, and movement of various commodities. These production and marketing statistics are given wide distribution through all available channels and are widely used by producers, dealers and consumers.

In addition to providing this current information on the production, prices, and movement of agricultural commodities, a more specialized service has been developed through which the bureau seeks to aid in analyzing the facts which have a bearing on the production and marketing of agricultural products. This service is given through the agricultural outlook reports which summarize and interest all available information which may serve the farmer in determining how much and what to produce, on the basis of the price which will probably prevail at the time his products are ready for market. Every year surveys are made by the bureau covering the intentions of the farmers as to plans for planting and livestock breeding.

The results of these surveys are published in time to permit farmers to alter the plans so as to help eliminate serious overproduction or underproduction. These reports have been very helpful to farmers in meeting changing conditions, it is stated.

Each year more cooperation is being received from the various states in carrying on the work of the bureau. Thirty-one states are now co-operating in preparing the crop and livestock estimates and in distributing statistical and economic information to producers in the various states. Many state agencies and local organizations assist the bureau in maintaining temporary market news field stations which keep then producers informed in regard to supplies and prices in the principal cities, thus enabling them to ship to the most favorable markets. The shipping point, inspection service, which enables any shipper to obtain a certificate which is prime fact evidence in the courts of the United States as to the quality and condition of his shipments, is carried on very largely through the cooperation of State and local agencies.

LOCAL REALTORS OPPOSE CLASSES IN REAL ESTATE

Might Be Good Thing for Young Men but Not for Veterans, Dealers Hold

Appleton real estate dealers do not favor establishing a class in real estate here, according to a survey made this week. Announcement by the local office of the University of Wisconsin Extension Division that such a class might be organized providing enough pupils indicated they would join, resulted in the survey.

Dealers based their objections on the grounds that the real estate business is built on a foundation of hard facts and not soft theories. While it might be a good thing for young men just planning to enter this business, old and established dealers are too proud of their accomplishments to listen to theories advanced by someone whom they would consider inferior to themselves as practical business men, one dealer pointed out.

The forecast reads fair Monday evening and Tuesday, except unsettled Monday evening along Lake Michigan; colder Monday night, severe cold wave in the east and south portions, continued cold Tuesday.

NON-ADVERTISER DOESN'T KNOW OWN BUSINESS - TOBIAS

Member of Speakers Bureau Will Speak to Luncheon Clubs of City

"A man who doesn't advertise, doesn't know his business and nobody else does," says M. F. Tobias of the speakers bureau, International Advertising association of New York, who is to speak at a joint meeting of the luncheon clubs here at 6:30 Tuesday evening at Hotel Northern. The Appleton Advertising club is sponsoring the meeting. Members of the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Y's Mens' clubs will be present.

Optimism in business will be the subject of Mr. Tobias' address. He is a member of the Aerial League of America and of the International Science Forum. He is a man of magnetic personality and he has a message to put across that has real merit in it, it is reported.

Following is part of an article that appeared in the Sheboygan Press on Wednesday Dec. 8, following Mr. Tobias' address before the luncheon clubs of that city on the previous evening.

"Just the address was not a cut and dried oration prepared several months ago and given over and over again was clear, for he brought forth his arguments facts gathered from the world's newspapers and periodicals printed today yesterday and not later than last week. The facts presented were not musty as they are in many speeches. Some of his stories used in the illustration of points, were probably picked up along the way and a few had been preserved for a long time, but the good pointed stories are like standard fiction and bear repetition without detracting from the principle theme and points brought out in the talk."

Mr. Tobias has appeared before some of the most notable bodies of men in the country and has addressed Rotary clubs and similar organizations in the majority of the large cities in the world. His lecture is short, interesting and replete with new ideas in business. Wives of the members will be invited to the meeting. Dinner is to be served at 5 o'clock and the program will follow immediately.

Markets STOCK MARKET IN UPWARD MOVEMENT

Conservative Optimism Rules Market During Opening Hour of Bidding

New York, (AP)—Opening of the new week in the stock market found the course of prices still headed upward with blocks of 1,000 shares or more quite common in initial transactions. Optimism, however, was tempered by a new high level for the year.

With reasonably low money rates assured for some time to come and an enormous investment yet unsatisfied, operators for the rise resumed their operations with vigor distributed in the favorite railroads and several of the low-priced motors, so that the general market was fairly active. A new least of life, Pere Marquette sold at 122, a rise of 5 points. Revival of interest in the merchandise group, in connection with reports of extraordinary retail buying now in progress, caused gains of 3 to 4 points in National Cash and other issues. Callioans renewed at the unchanged figure of 4 1/2 per cent.

ALIEN WAR CLAIMS HARD PROBLEM FOR CONGRESS TO SOLVE

Hope to Pass Bill Making It Possible to Close Up Accounts by March

Washington—(AP)—Congress is hardened to problems which are knotty and complex by nature and also to those which become so by discussion.
But the press of the year is to be found in the German war claims.
The House and Senate committees have been working on the problem recommending and it is hoped before the recent Congress the next March a bill may be passed making it possible to close up the accounts.
American citizens have a bill against Germany for death, injuries and property losses sustained during the world war. Approximately $10 million dollars worth of German private property is in possession of the alien property custodian. The bulk is composed of bank deposits, stocks, bonds, mortgages, real estate, factories and legacies to German nationals whose payments have been withheld pending the settlement of awards by the mixed claims commission to American nationality.

SHIPS SEIZED
On the official side the American government is beholden to German nationals for ships seized in American ports when the United States entered the war. For German radio stations operating on American territory, and for certain patents seized under the trading with the Enemy act, which were turned over to the army and navy departments. The value of these German private claims against the American government has not been fixed.
They will be made the subject of an adjudication independent of the procedure adopted by the mixed claims commission in determining the awards to American claimants.

As a result of prolonged hearings before the ways and means committee it is believed that the war has been passed for an equitable solution to respect alike the interests of American claimants and the rights of German nationals.

$110,000,000 PAID U. S.
American nationals already have been awarded $110,000,000 while claims still awaiting adjudication will bring the final total up to $150,000,000. The awards bear 5 per cent interest. In-demnification for deaths and personal injuries to the amount of $5,000,000 has been awarded American claimants.

The heaviest reimbursement to American nationals is that awarded to American underwriters for losses paid by them on ships and cargoes destroyed by German submarines. It amounts to roughly $50,000,000, of which $14,000,000 represents interest calculated up to Jan. 1, 1927. American industrial plants, houses, merchandise stocks which were destroyed or seized by German military authorities in the war area, constitute some of the numerous other items in the catalogue of American claims.

GERMAN PROPERTY
The original value of German property seized by the United States is estimated by German officials as exceeding $500,000,000. Large parts of those assets have been released by the alien property custodian either because they were held illegally or belonged to neutrals or residents in former German territory which was lost to Germany through the treaty of Versailles.

One of the largest claims held against the American government by German nationals is that for about 100 German ships seized in American ports. They were commercial vessels with an approximate gross tonnage of 600,000. In a suit brought before the United States court of claims at Washington, German owners placed the value of the fleet at approximately $300,000,000.
Among the vessels were the packets of the North German Lloyd and Harburg-American passenger fleet. The value of the German radio station at Sayville, Long Island, and of various German patents taken by the American government also await adjudication.

There is an apparent desire on the part both of counsel for American claimants and German nationals to show a mutually accommodating attitude in order to bring about a speedy settlement. It is now believed that with the aid of a congressional appropriation of $100,000,000 to which would be added $25,000,000 unallocated interest accruing from German private property, and $24,000,000 to be contributed by the United States.

Many Sailors Owe Lives To Wireless On Ocean

New York—(AP)—The year 1926, one of the worst on record for storms at sea, has proven, paradoxically, that safety at sea is the new slogan of sailors.

Radio this year has fought one of its greatest sea battles to save lives.
Standing against it on the failure side of the ledger are listed under the bragging words, "totally lost," in Lloyd's Register, 124 vessels for the first three months of 1926, against a loss of 105 for the same period the previous year. While this year's losses have not yet been completely compiled, when more than 400 craft
lost in the Florida hurricane and 100 schooners wrecked in Havana harbor in the Cuban blow.

RADIO SAVES MANY
Standing to the credit of radio is the assertion of shipping men here that the losses at sea this year would have reached startling figures had not wireless on shipboard sputtered its cry for assistance. To those who sail the seas the wireless has given a comforting thought of safety that mariners and travelers of other days have not known.

Within ten months there have been two hurricanes that swept the south Atlantic seaboard and the weather bureau has sent out 50 storm warnings to ships at sea. Those who insure shipping say this year's losses have not been abnormally large and that insurance rates, based on a falling off of claims since the use of radio became general, have been reduced. Many ships which otherwise would have been a total loss have been saved by wireless and towed to port.

SAILOR WAS BRAVEST
Wireless has changed the stories of the sea which are now those of thrilling rescue rather than of total disaster and lonely death. The Royal Humane society gave its medal for the bravest deed in 1925 to a sailor.

With the wireless a new hero was born—the radio operator. Half forgotten by the passengers so long as all goes well, his is a courage not of action but of endurance. In the Bermuda storm of last October, the Valen-tia, a British naval sloop, turned turtle. By the time the cruiser Capetown had fought her way to the scene only 10 survivors of the crew of 103 could be found clinging to the life rafts. In a bold statement they told a story which is almost a commonplace of the sea.

ed the United States on Sept. 1, 1927, on account of its share of German reparations under the Dawes plan, a sufficient fund would be made available to dispose of all of awards to American nationals under $100,000.
They constitute 56 per cent of the total number of American claims against Germany.

CLOSE CHRISTMAS PARTIES TO GUESTS

Measure Deemed Necessary
Because of Contagious Diseases in City

Guests will not be admitted to Christmas programs in the kindergartens in the public schools, according to Miss Mary Orblson, school nurse, and Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, on account of the number of cases of contagious disease in the city.
Parents will not be encouraged to come to the grade programs and in some cases probably will not be permitted. Visiting children will not be admitted to any of the Christmas programs and parties, it was said.
The measure was suggested by one of the teachers in the schools as a precautionary step in preventing the visitors to attend these Christmas events, the rooms are crowded, and babies and small children are exposed unnecessarily, Miss Orblson said.
Children can have their fun at the parties, the nurse said, and the teachers do not want to dampen the festivities in any way by this measure. It will mean only that there will not be an audience for the events.
